ABSTRACT

In a record of library activities in Wisconsin in 1974, the activities of the Division for Library Services are described along with the Wisconsin Library Network and the state and regional library networks, services, and resources. Lists of library and media organizations and education programs are followed by a directory of academic, public, school, and special libraries and school districts, by county. For academic libraries, statistics, a state summary, and a directory are given. A state summary, statistics, and a directory are provided for public libraries along with a state summary of mobile information services and a description of public library systems. A directory and statistics are provided for special libraries as well. (LS)

INTRODUCTION

The Wisconsin Library Service Record–1974 is presented in the format established in last year's publication and attempts to cover so far as possible all types of libraries and library related activities. Again we have provided narrative identification and description as a compliment to the up-dated statistical tables.

The Division wishes to thank the many persons who provided us the information presented here, both narrative and statistical. Among those allowing time in their schedules to complete forms and provide background information are the libraries associated with major state level library resource institutions; academic, special and public librarians who file annual reports with the Division; intertype library association personnel; and David Hoffman, associated with the Task Force on Library Manpower and Education.

Unfortunately, because of publication deadlines, the section of the Service Record devoted to school instructional media centers is not included in this publication. It is expected that next year's Service Record will again include a school library chapter.

The new Service Record is to be viewed as complementary to the current edition of the Comprehensive Long-Range Program for Library Services in Wisconsin.

W. Lyle Eberhart, Administrator
Division for Library Services

CHAPTER 1
WISCONSIN LIBRARY NETWORK
Division for Library Services

The Division for Library Services is responsible for supervision, improvement and coordination of public and school libraries. It administers the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title II (ESEA II) programs for school libraries as well as the Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA). It is also charged with coordinating library research and fostering interlibrary cooperation among all types of libraries and information services.

The general duties and responsibilities of the Division for Library Services are stated in Chapter 43 of the Wisconsin Statutes, Library Laws of Wisconsin, enacted in December of 1971. Specifically, the Statutes state:

"43.05 GENERAL DUTIES OF DIVISION.

"The division shall:

"(1) Maintain a library to serve individuals and to supplement the collection of public libraries, public library systems, regional resource centers and other types of libraries with specialized information and library resources not appropriately held locally, so that people of this state shall have access to the full range of reference and educational materials, and provide library lending services to state government.

"(2) Coordinate state-wide library planning and related research and conduct in-service training and programs of recruiting of librarians for public libraries, school libraries and public library systems.

"(3) Facilitate interlibrary loans and other forms of interlibrary cooperation among all libraries in this state, including, without limitation because of enumeration public, school, academic and special libraries, public library systems, regional resource centers and state-level library and information centers.

"(4) Provide professional and technical advisory and informational services to public and school libraries, public library systems and regional resource centers and to their governing bodies, and extend consulting service to state agencies and officers for the purpose of improving specialized libraries, to communities desiring to establish libraries and to school districts desiring to establish libraries.

"(5) Contract for service with libraries to serve as resources of specialized library materials not available within public library systems or the reference and loan library of the division.

"(6) Collect library statistics, make studies and surveys of library needs throughout the state and publish the finding.

"(7) Ascertain which libraries in this state can suitably care for and advantageously use copies of the public documents printed at the expense of this state, including printing under ss. 35.28 and 35.29. The division shall designate such libraries as depositories of state documents and shall furnish lists of such depositories to the department of administration, to govern the distribution under s. 35.85 (2) (b). All libraries designated as depositories for federal documents shall automatically be designated as depositories for state documents. Such lists shall show, for each depository library, the number of copies of each printed state document it is to receive.

"(8) Develop and make available desirable standards for public and school libraries."

The Division administers the State Aid to Public Library Systems Program. The purpose of this state aid program is to bring public library services to residents currently without such service, and to strengthen existing services by working through municipal public libraries within each system. Four systems received provisional certification from the Division for operation in 1973, four systems were added in 1974, and on January 1, 1975 three additional systems began operations. Currently eleven systems, with 36 member counties, serve 60 percent of Wisconsin's residents. A total of $2,195,351 was paid, in accordance with the statutory population/area/library expenditures formula, to eight systems in 1974. Eleven systems received a total of $2,912,760 for 1975 operations.

For many years, a "hard core" of approximately 7 percent of Wisconsin citizens had no legal access to a public library. Library service to them, by statute, was provided as one of the functions of the State Reference and Loan Library. However, this library, at Madison, was geographically remote. Services to the unserved can now begin to stand at system center or sub-center libraries closer to the patron.

By contract with the Library Division, the Milwaukee Public Library is now making its materials and services available state-wide upon proper request. The 2.34 million-volume collection of the Milwaukee Library, along with full staff services, enabled the Reference and Loan Library to fill approximately 72% of its requests for service from other libraries throughout the state. The state budget for 1975-77 again includes money for a similar contract between the Library Division and the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus libraries through Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service (WILS).

Increasing emphasis on student responsibility for learning and the use by teachers of a variety of materials in teaching have provided major impetus for the development of centralized instructional materials centers (IMC's) in public schools. Another important stimulus has been the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title II which since 1965 has provided over $14 million to purchase print and audiovisual materials for public and nonpublic schools in the state. This, plus the instructional materials and audiovisual equipment provided schools since 1958 through the National Defense Education Act, Title III, has been instrumental in demonstrating the contribution of good library/media programs to learning. The Department of Public Instruction has advocated that every student in the state, K-12, should have the services of a centralized IMC provided as part of a basic educational program.

Wisconsin school library collections are approaching a level of adequacy, but most are inadequate in the area of audiovisual materials. Improvements are needed in staff, facilities and student access to materials and equipment for listening and viewing. To achieve this progress, it is essential that schools plan for needed program improvements and that they tie into resources which exist outside the school.

The public library system legislation will tie together state-wide resources. School personnel must become knowledgeable of this program and determine where the schools fit in the "network" picture.

There are approximately 338 public libraries, 75 academic, 300 special and more than 2,500 public and nonpublic school libraries in Wisconsin. A formal program of interlibrary cooperation began in 1967, funded under Title III of the federal LSCA. The ultimate goal is a framework of cooperation so that all the resources and librarian competencies of these libraries will be accessible to all the state's citizens through their local library.

Intertype library organizations currently in operation are the Northeast Wisconsin Intertype Libraries, Inc. (NEWIL), the Madison Area Library Council (MALC), the Library Council of Metropolitan Milwaukee (LCOMM), and the Tri-County Library Council (TLC) of southeastern Wisconsin counties.

The Division for Library Services is advised by two state-wide councils. The Council on Public Library Certificates and Standards advises the Division on the development of standards for public libraries and for certification of public librarians.

The Council on Library Development advises the State Superintendent with regard to the general policies and activities of the state's programs for library development and interlibrary coordination. It serves as the advisory committee required under the federal LSCA to review long-range plans for library service. Membership on the Council includes persons broadly representative of public, academic, school and special libraries and library users. The council appointed a Task Force on Library Education and Manpower early in 1974 to implement its objectives of evaluating library personnel requirements in Wisconsin and making recommendations of library education programs.

Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction

The Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction (BAVI) of the University of Wisconsin–Extension maintains an ever-expanding library of 16mm films, presently consisting of more than 7,000 titles and 15,000 prints. All films are available on a rental basis and recommendations for purchase are accepted. BAVI will also procure for users titles not presently in the library.

The Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction films are available to every Wisconsin film user, except where admission charges are made. Schools, organizations, industries and individuals use the films. Where booking openings permit, films are sent to bordering states. Films produced by the University of Wisconsin–Extension will be sent anywhere. The Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction films are listed in BAVI University of Wisconsin–Extension Films 1975-77.

In addition to having a film rental library, the Bureau offers a variety of other services. On the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus it provides graphic arts services, consultant services, projection equipment and operators, tape duplication equipment and other audio-visual services. The Bureau faculty are available for extension teaching of credit classes in the use of educational communication media. And, the Bureau personnel are available to schools and other groups throughout the state for demonstrations and instruction in the selection, utilization and evaluation of educational communication media of all types (i.e., for noncredit extension workshops and institutes).

The Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction is located at 1327 University Avenue, Madison. Dr. Hal Riehle is the director of BAVI.

Bureau for Reference and Loan Services

Honored by the Wisconsin Library Association as the "Wisconsin Library of the Year," the Bureau for Reference and Loan Services, Division for Library Services, responded to a record-breaking volume of service demands in 1974.

Growth in the number of requests from all types of libraries and library systems dictated increased productivity and quickened the search for more effective service patterns.

Interloan service with other resource libraries was substantially improved with the acquisition of a microform copy of the UW–Madison Memorial Library catalog. This tool makes it possible to verify and confirm the availability of many of the interloan request items referred to the Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service (WILS). Working methods were negotiated which permitted public library system headquarters with TWX equipment to route selected interloan requests directly to Milwaukee Public Library, thus reducing the handling and the time required for filling local requests.

The Division for Library Services has interloan contracts with the Milwaukee Public Library, the state's largest public library, and with WILS (Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service). WILS is the designated agency of the University of Wisconsin–Madison for interloan activities. Statistical information, reporting interloan activities with these two agencies, is contained in the below chart. [Also see Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service and Milwaukee Public Library]

The library collection was expanded in several areas. A program to assess the need for printed music materials in public libraries prompted action to broaden greatly the collection of music scores. Promotion of the availability of music materials stimulated substantial increases in their interest and use.

Videocassette materials were increased and the collection was deposited at Milwaukee Public Library for use with the Community Video Exchange program.

A program to call attention to new and special library materials was launched with the first issue of Accent, an occasional newsletter giving "Notes on new materials and service." Revised catalogs of the library's holdings of various AV and special materials were also issued.

The most elaborate program for 1974, however, was the effort to improve the Wisconsin Document Depository system. A study was made of the accumulated problems relating to all aspects of the documents program. Field visits, advisory committees, and a staff specialist helped to fashion a system of regional document depositories, a basic Depository Manual, and a healthy rapport with the various agencies which issue and distribute public documents.

Cooperative Children's Book Center

The Cooperative Children's Book Center, located at Helen C. White Hall on the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus, is a project of two state agencies: The Department of Public Instruction and the University of Wisconsin. The Division for Library Services of the Department of Public Instruction and the Library School and the School of Education of the University of Wisconsin all participate in the policy making, promotion, use and support of the Center. The Center started in 1963. It has only a few counterparts in the country.

Broadly stated, the main objective of the Center is to provide a noncirculating children's book center where individuals and groups may examine, read and evaluate children's and young people's books. (The Center defines children's books generally as those of interest to individuals under 14 years of age.)

The Center develops bibliographies and produces a checklist called "Materials for Distribution," which is revised regularly and sent upon request. The Center publishes the CCBC Circular several times a year. This contains news about the Center and the world of children's literature. The Circular has a mailing list of approximately 1,800 public libraries and branches, elementary and junior high school librarians, children's book editors, and publishers' library promotion personnel. The Center schedules the use of the traveling exhibits of children's books at Reference and Loan Library for the libraries of the state. Requests should be sent to the Center.

Six collections of books are available:

a. CURRENT–trade and reference titles of the last 18 months provided by some seventy publishers of children's trade books

b. BASIC–a core collection of significant titles

c. EXHIBITS–such as Newbery, Caldecott, and Lewis Carroll Awards

d. HISTORICAL–a collection of 19th and early 20th century titles that is being assembled from gifts and special purchases

e. BIBLIOGRAPHICAL–aids in book selection and evaluation

f. CURRICULUM ENRICHMENT–recommended titles.

Approximately 15,500 volumes are owned by the Center. In addition to providing the above book collections, the Center also provides a sampling of audiovisual materials of particular significance in children's literature.

Although the preponderance of patrons are from the University community, there are also a variety of general adult patrons, including browsers, nurses, collectors of historical books, teachers, and school and public librarians.

The Center is staffed by Mary Carr, librarian, a stenographer and several part-time library assistants (usually students of the University of Wisconsin School of Education and Library School).

The budget for the Center for 1974-75 from the Division for Library Services, University of Wisconsin Library School and University of Wisconsin School of Education was $38,366, of which $33,666 was to be spent for salaries and $4,700 for materials, services and capital outlay.

Coordinated Library Information Program

The Cooperative Library Information Program (CLIP) was started by the Division for Library Services in April, 1970, as a project under Title III of the Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA). It grew out of the recognition of the importance of public communication for Wisconsin libraries of all types–public, school, academic and special–and the belief that the exchange and development of good public relations ideas and materials would benefit and assist all libraries. The program was initiated with a part-time director, Marian S. Edsall, with the assistance of an advisory committee composed of librarians representing all types of libraries and from various areas of the state. In 1975 the project was retitled "Coordinated Library Information Program, Inc.," and incorporated as a non-profit organization.

The following activities have been part of the CLIP program during the 1970-75 period:

a. A bimonthly newsletter, Tips from CLIP. This publication serves as a medium of exchange of information, ideas and materials. Previously sent free to Wisconsin libraries, it is now on a subscription basis of $2.00 per year (January to December) to in-state subscribers, $5.00 per year out-of-state. Wisconsin Public library systems, school library coordinators, and other library agencies on order in bulk at reduced rates. 1975 circulation: 3,700.

b. Production of promotional materials. Those materials which can be produced more economically in large quantities have been made available for local use, including: posters, bookmarks, brochures, bumper stickers, counter cards, book list covers, plastic book bags, etc.

c. Statewide Children's Summer Reading Program. An annual theme, related materials, and a program manual have been developed for purchase at cost by all Wisconsin libraries wishing to participate.

d. Workshops. CLIP has sponsored or participated in numerous workshops.

e. Statewide media coverage. Television and radio spots, promoting libraries and library use, have been distributed, taped radio programs made available, and newspaper releases sent out.

f. Circulating library exhibits. Three circulating exhibits have been made available to libraries for display.

g. Assistance to other agencies. CLIP has assisted with National Library Week promotion and other Wisconsin Library Association sponsored activities; served as a resource to UW–EX and others for conferences, ETN programs and classes; consultation by mail, phone, or in-person has been available on a very limited basis.

h. Cooperation and exchange with regional and state library agencies outside Wisconsin. The state program has been enriched and augmented through contact with many others outside Wisconsin.

i. Public Relations Council. In 1975 a PR Council was formed by CLIP, composed of designated representatives of all Wisconsin public library systems and of some of the larger unaffiliated libraries. This Council, meeting at regular intervals, will define library system public relations activities to aid in implementing that section of Standards for Public Library Systems, define some minimum standards for all libraries, and determine ways to coordinate state and regional activities for effective use of available resources.

j. Miscellaneous. Statewide library contests have been conducted, a library logo developed for general use, packets of sample materials prepared for circulation.

The Coordinated Library Information Program has generated a greater awareness of the need for good public relations on the part of all libraries and the importance of promotion and publicity as part of a library's total service program by offering advice and practical suggestions for such activities and providing some tools to aid librarians at the local and state levels.

Information Services Division

The Information Services Division was established by the University Industry Research Program in 1965 to serve the information needs of business and industry. It was established in recognition of the fact that:

a. The University of Wisconsin has vast collections of technical information in its libraries and information centers.

b. Wisconsin businesses and industries need access to information and technical expertise.

c. The Information Services Division can tap the University's resources on behalf of the business and industry community.

Recently reorganized and now under the auspices of the College of Engineering and the Sea Grant Program as well as the University Industry Research Program, the Information Services Division is not intended to replace company libraries nor to compete with private information services. By drawing upon the University's scientific and technical libraries, information centers and academic expertise, the Information Services Division can provide supplemental and in-depth information which may not be locally available to business and industry personnel.

The Information Services Division will accept an occasional ready reference or referral question from a public library if the question is routed through the Division for Library Services, Reference and Loan Library.

Professional staff is available Monday through Friday to provide advice on on-campus use of University libraries and information centers; photocopies; information on patents; research, reference and referral services; literature searches (manual and computer); library planning consultation; and, interlibrary loans. The fee schedule varies according to the service.

The Information Services Division is located at 1513 University Ave., Engineering Library, University of Wisconsin, Madison. Fran Wood is the Assistant Director.

Instructional Television/Radio Broadcast and Cable Television

Wisconsin established its educational television system as a statewide network in September 1972 with the activation of WPNE-TV, Channel 38, Green Bay. WPNE-TV joined WMVS, Milwaukee, and WHA-TV, Madison, in the effort to bring broadcast instruction and enrichment to pupils and adults throughout the state. In the fall of 1973 two additional television stations, Channel 28, WHWC, Menomonie, and Channel 31, WHAD, La Crosse, were activated to serve Wisconsin children and adults. After many unforeseen delays, it now appears most likely that Channel 20, WHRM, Wausau, will be on the air about January 1, 1976. This will complete the originally intended statewide educational TV network. However, at least one additional educational broadcast unit may be necessary to establish basic coverage for the state. During 1973-74, for example, approximately 470,000 children were viewing educational TV in Wisconsin. In 1974-75 this had increased to approximately 622,000.

In addition to direct state network television operations, arrangements have been continuing with Channel 8, WDSE, Duluth, to carry approximately 50% of the Wisconsin TV instructional programing in an effort to serve the extreme northwest corner of Wisconsin. Thus, a most substantial portion of Wisconsin's school children will be served by instructional television broadcast which offers more than seventy courses to these same public and private school children. At the same time our former statewide radio coverage by WHA-FM is now made possible by WERN, the state radio network. This radio network, along with other offerings, carries about twenty-five programs during each school year for Wisconsin's school children. In 1974 school radio listeners numbered about 49,000. In 1975 this number had apparently increased to approximately 66,500.

The Educational Communications Board, along with the Department of Public Instruction, enjoys a most unique organizational/utilization pattern for telecommunications in Wisconsin. This presently consists of six Regional Broadcast Instruction Councils. Each is based in a Cooperative Education Service Agency located near a transmitter, and each has representation from all sectors of education, including the Department of Public Instruction and the Educational Communications Board. Such a pattern provides local/regional input into program selection and evaluation, the fostering of good utilization practices, and the distribution of supportive materials. "Friends of Broadcasting" groups of adults operate in the various areas to help with the determination of night-time broadcasting to homes. Also, in the summer of 1974, elementary age viewers had available some instructional programing which will be expanded in 1975.

Cable television continues to interest Wisconsin educators as it demonstrates a means of positive signal reception and possibilities for local interconnects and regional networking. While some school districts report having connections to local cable systems, only a few are used systematically for local instructional purposes. Hopefully innovative cable television practices at the local and regional level will be forthcoming.

Looking ahead, a Department of Public Instruction publication, Airlift for Learning, recently suggested possible future developments: "Down the road could come slow-scan video images delivered via radio, new ventures in multi-track transmission, after-hours telecasts recorded and stored automatically by school equipment. . . ."

Library Council of Metropolitan Milwaukee

The Library Council of Metropolitan Milwaukee, Inc. (LCOMM) is an intertype organization in four neighboring counties in southwest Wesconsin: Milwaukee, Washington, Waukesha and Ozaukee. Libraries in these counties are working together to encourage a network of communication and cooperation among all types of information centers in the LCOMM area. Currently 63 public, academic, school, special and other libraries participate in LCOMM.

The major objectives of LCOMM are: (a) to stimulate and facilitate optimum use of existing information resources; (b) to improve these resources and services as a first step toward statewide cooperative library development; (c) to provide the facilities and organization needed to help solve the research, administrative, and service problems of common interest to members.

Any library system, institution of higher education, school system, library, information service or other nonprofit educational institution, or any unit thereof, organized to provide reference or research service primarily in the LCOMM area may become a regular member or affiliate member. Nonprofit organizations and business corporations offering library or reference or research services to clientele primarily in the LCOMM area may become regular or affiliate members. Individuals and organizations with an interest in the purposes of LCOMM may become affiliate members.

LCOMM's Coordinator handles the daily business of organization, while the elected Board of Directors, composed of chief administrators of seventeen member libraries, is responsible for overall policy decisions. All types of libraries are represented on the Board of Directors, with one permanent member from each of the following: the largest public library, the largest public academic library, the largest school system, and the largest special library. Board membership is determined annually by election.

LCOMM is financed through membership dues (scaled to the size of library or system) and a grant received under the Library Services and Construction Act that is administered by the Division for Library Services of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

LCOMM, in cooperation with the Tri-County Library Council (TLC), has published a directory of school, public, special, and academic libraries in the LCOMM area and the TLC counties of Kenosha, Racine, and Walworth. This publication is titled Libraries and Information Centers in Southeastern Wisconsin.

LCOMM is planning various continuing education seminars and workshops to facilitate the exchange of ideas and to provide up-to-date overviews of significant topics.

LCOMM publishes a bi-monthly newsletter to inform members of LCOMM activities and current events in the library community.

LCOMM plans to sponsor orientation tours of area libraries to better acquaint staff members with each other and with the collections and services of other institutions. These tours will be open to all member institutions, their staff, and to affiliate members, and will be posted in the LCOMM News.

Legislative Reference Bureau

In 1901 the Legislature authorized the Wisconsin Free Library Commission to "maintain in the state capitol, for the use and information of the legislature, the several state departments, and such other citizens as may desire to consult the same, a working library, as complete as may be, of the several public documents of this and other states; and to purchase for said library standard works of use and references." This authorization represented the first organized effort to provide a state legislature with trained help. As a pioneer, it has served as the primary model for the establishment of similar agencies in other states.

Although it is still primarily a legislative service agency, the statutes direct the Legislative Reference Bureau to also serve state departments, students of government and citizens generally. Thus, the Bureau provides a great variety of information on all aspects of state and local government to everyone who needs such assistance. The Bureau's facilities are available on a factual, nonpartisan basis.

In the years following the legislative Reference Bureau's inception, its duties became more extensive. The Legislative Reference Bureau is a reference and research organization and a bill drafting organization. Its services include responding to questions on legislation and other aspects of government, preparing information reports on governmental problems, publishing the biennial Wisconsin Blue Book, and drafting or processing all measures introduced in the Wisconsin Legislature. The Legislative Reference Bureau handles nearly 12,000 bill drafting requests in a legislative session.

The Legislative Reference Bureau has a staff of 37 permanent and 2.7 sessional positions. It is divided into 3 sections: the reference and research staff (comprised of research analysts and librarians), the legal section (legislative attorneys), and the data processing and administrative staff.

The Legislative Reference Bureau's circulating collection contains material with an emphasis on state and local government, but it also includes a broad range of subjects in the social sciences which have a direct bearing upon the operation of state and local government. Since currency is a basic consideration, it contains a preponderance of ephemeral materials.

The Legislative Reference Bureau has a vast clipping collection of over 1,000,000 clippings to which 15,000 items are added yearly. Extracted from newspapers and periodicals, these clippings provide current and precise information that is usually not yet available from other sources.

The Bureau's noncirculating reference collection includes Wisconsin Statutes, session laws, legislative journals and indexes, Supreme Court Reports, Attorneys' Generals Opinions–all since the beginning of statehood–and all the bills introduced in the Legislature since 1897.

The Wisconsin Free Library Commission was the governing body of the Legislative Reference Library until August 1, 1963. At this time the Legislative Reference Library was transferred to the legislative branch of the government as the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Madison Area Library Council

The Madison Area Library Council (MALC) was formed early in 1970 as a direct result of a survey of library cooperation for the Madison area by Dr. Charles A. Bunge of the University of Wisconsin Library School. The study, financed by Title III of the Library Services and Construction Act, was initiated at the request of a School-Library Cooperation Committee of the Madison Public Schools and Public Library.

The major objectives of MALC are:

a. To promote the most effective use of existing information resources.

b. To improve these resources and services.

c. To initiate new programs to meet changing needs.

Membership in MALC is open to any Dane County library or information center. Its current 90 members include the County's major libraries, as well as many of the area's important smaller institutions. Public, academic, school, and a variety of special libraries are members of MALC.

The elected Board of Directors, composed of chief administrators of 14 member libraries, is responsible for overall policy decisions. All types of libraries are represented on the Board, and the responsibility of Board membership is rotated among all members.

MALC is financed through membership dues (scaled to the size of the library or system), and the sale of publications. It has in the past received several grants from the LSCA Title III.

MALC is responsible for a number of publications. It publishes a monthly newsletter, the MALC Informer, to inform members about MALC activities and those of local libraries. It published a Newspapers Currently Received in Major Dane County Collections. In 1972 it published a Directory of Staff Members of Libraries and Information

Centers in Dane County to aid communications efforts. In 1974 an update of Directory of Libraries and Information Sources in Dane County came out. This publication provides detailed descriptions of the area's many and varied information resources. MALC also published a Union List of Periodicals in 1973 and a revised edition of Campus Collections at the University of Wisconsin–Madison was published in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin Memorial Library.

MALC sponsors orientation tours of local libraries so staff members can become better acquainted with each other and with the collections and services of other institutions.

MALC plans continuing education programs to bring new ideas and methods to local librarians and to provide up-to-date overviews of important topics that the working librarian may not have time to investigate.

MALC maintains a clearinghouse as a central source of detailed, up-to-date information about the resources and services of local information centers.

MALC sponsors and encourages meetings of specialists to discuss common interests and mutual problems.

MALC ad hoc committees work to solve specific problems cooperatively.

MALC works to stimulate active interest in library legislation promoting cooperation among libraries.

Milwaukee Public Library

The Milwaukee Public Library is the state's largest public library. It has a collection of over 2.3 million volumes and had an operating budget of nearly 7 million dollars in 1974.

The Milwaukee Public Library had a staff of 408 persons in FTE in 1974. Of these employees, 30% held a master's degree in library science, 1% held a master's degree or higher in a field other than library science, 9% held a bachelor's degree and 60% held less than a bachelor's degree.

The Milwaukee Public Library has 12 branches, 3 stations, 5 bookmobiles and 2 mobile vans. It is the headquarters for the Milwaukee County Federated Library System. Nine libraries participate in the System.

In 1974 the Milwaukee Public Library loaned 3,612,093 items directly to library patrons. It loaned 6,479 items to libraries in the System and 6,096 items to libraries not in the System. It borrowed 267 items from other libraries.

The Division for Library Services began contracting with the Milwaukee Public Library, the state's largest public library, in 1967. The purpose of the contract between the Division for Library Services and the Milwaukee Public Library is to augment the ability of the Division's Reference and Loan Library to serve the needs of its statewide clientele.

Milwaukee Public Library received $75,000 from the Division for Library Services in 1973-74 to provide statewide access to Milwaukee Public Library services and resources. In 1974 the Reference and Loan Library submitted 13,271 interloan requests to the Milwaukee Public Library.

Northeast Wisconsin Intertype Libraries

Northeast Wisconsin Intertype Libraries (NEWIL) was started in 1967 at the urging of the directors of Brown County Library, and the University of Wisconsin–Green Bay, St. Norbert College and Lawrence University libraries.

Its present membership includes libraries in 7 counties in northeast Wisconsin: Brown, Door, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Marinette, Oconto and Outagamie. Types of libraries cooperating in NEWIL are: 2-year and 4-year public and private colleges and universities, a vocational school, public and private high schools, and public libraries.

Loan of materials is a major reason for the existence of NEWIL. To facilitate cooperation NEWIL published in 1968 a Union List of Periodical Holdings. This list, updated and printed in January of each year since 1968, affords each member library a quick identification of periodical holdings of the entire group. Copies of articles from periodicals are sent free of charge among NEWIL libraries; books and audiovisual materials are also loaned at no charge to patrons.

A second major cooperative effort of the NEWIL organization culminated in September 1971 in a 450-page Instructional Media Catalog (IMCAT). This is a listing of the audiovisual materials (slides, films, tapes, records, etc.) located in the NEWIL libraries and their media centers. A first supplement to the IMCAT was published in January 1973. It provided an additional listing of audiovisual materials in 500 pages.

NEWIL also provides a NEWIL Courtesy Card. This card is issued on a one-time-use basis and entitles its user to all library privileges of a specified library. Its use is reserved for cases when the needs of library patrons cannot be met through normal interlibrary loan channels. NEWIL libraries participate in exchange of duplicate materials, usually by means of lists of duplicate materials distributed by the offering library.

NEWIL has published a Directory of member libraries. The Directory provides information on the staff, hours, lending policies, etc. of NEWIL members. NEWIL also publishes a newsletter, the NEWIL POST. NEWIL also sponsors workshops for interlibrary loan personnel. It is currently pooling the interests and needs of NEWIL members to determine the subject of future workshops.

In 1974 NEWIL hired a coordinator to promote and implement programs of cooperation and communication among all libraries and other information centers of Northeast Wisconsin to assure the most effective use of resources in the NEWIL area.

Public Library Systems

Public library systems are the direct results of legislation enacted in December of 1971 designed to encourage groups of libraries to organize and cooperate in order to fulfill the library services and materials needs of persons residing in the defined system area. Systems vary in size from single county to ten county organization. State aid to public library systems totaled $2,195,351 in 1974.

Systems operating in 1974 were:
- La Crosse Area Library System
- Milwaukee County Federated Library System
- Northwest Wisconsin Library System
- Wisconsin Valley Library Service
- Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System
- Manitowoc County Library System
- Rock County Library System
- Southwest Wisconsin Library System.

In addition, three systems began operations January 1, 1975. They are:
- Brown County Library System
- Southcentral Library System
- Outagamie County Library System.

For further information on Public Library Systems see the Public Library section of this service record.

Special Education Instructional Materials Centers

In recent years, as a result of great interest in the problems of special education, and also as a result of state and federal funds, a number of Special Education Instructional Materials Centers (SEIMC) have been established in the state. These centers are operated by Cooperative Educational Service Agencies. The centers provide a variety of print and non-print materials useful in working with students who have exceptional educational needs. The centers work closely with public school teachers and children.

The Centers now operating in Wisconsin are at Gillett, Cumberland, Elmwood, Chippewa Falls, Stevens Point, Oshkosh, Onalaska, Portage, Fennimore, and Janesville. Starting July 1, 1975 new Centers will be located at Ashland, Minocqua and the City of Racine. A Specialized Center serving all visually impaired children throughout the State will be located at the Wisconsin School for the Visually Handicapped at Janesville.

State Historical Society of Wisconsin

The Library Division is one of the 8 major divisions of the State Historical Society. It is responsible for organizing and making available the volumes and pamphlets which constitute the historical collection.

In 1973-74 increased appropriations made it possible to return for the first time since 1969 to an accelerated book purchasing program in order to reestablish the Library as a major research collection. The Library also speeded up the reclassification of its holdings from the old, outmoded Cutter system to the modern Library of Congress system in order to make its resources more usable.

In addition to increased state funding, the Society received support for its library from two new sources for the first time. Changes in the Higher Education Act brought the library a basic grant as a research library which supports library facilities of academic institutions. Financial support was also received from the Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan System to develop the Library's resources in the statewide interlibrary loan network that is being developed through the Council of Wisconsin Librarians.

The acquisition of printed materials in the areas of United States and Canadian national and local history and genealogy expanded rapidly during the year. Particular emphasis was placed on acquiring and cataloging ephemeral publications of social and political organizations in the United States, and some 5,000 new titles were added to this collection. All of the Presidential papers offered on film by the Library of Congress have now been acquired. The Readex collection of Early American Newspapers on microprint was also acquired as a supplement to the fine collection of original colonial papers already in the Library. Substantial additions were made to the collections of American Indian and black newspapers, and a beginning was made in acquiring the 1880 census population schedules for states east of the Mississippi which are now complete through 1870.

In the areas of finding aids and bibliographic control of the collections, two numbers of the Wisconsin Public Documents checklist, for 1972 and 1973, were published during the year. "Wisconsin Necrology" scrapbooks, numbering fifty-one volumes and containing more than 24,500 obituaries of Wisconsinites from 1846 to 1944, were made available for purchase on seven reels of microfilm.

The library served 79,176 persons during 1973-74. Services offered include: stack and carrel admissions; reading room service; microforms reading room service; collection items available for home use; and a correspondence service. Total circulation of books and reels of microfilm was 118,570.

State (Law) Library

The State (Law) Library was established by the congressional act of 1836 which created the Wisconsin territory. The purpose of the library was to supply books for the Supreme Court and the Legislature. Originally the Library also contained miscellaneous and nonlegal material, but since about 1866 its holdings have been limited to legal material.

The Library is administered by a board of trustees which is composed of the justices of the Supreme Court and the Attorney General. The board establishes all policies and appoints the librarian and other personnel.

The Wisconsin State Library is a public library, but its main service is as the legal resource center for the Wisconsin supreme court, the department of justice, the legislature, members of the executive department and the various executive agencies, and members of the bar of Wisconsin. Although much of the collection is noncirculating, xeroxing facilities are available at a nominal cost. Reference and basic research services are provided.

The holdings of the State (Law) Library, comprising 130,000-135,000 volumes, consist of:

a. Session laws and statutory codes, court reports, administrative rules, legal indexes and digests for the U.S. federal government, the 50 states and territories of the U.S.

b. Legal and bar periodicals—933 titles of which 505 are current.

c. Treatise collection covering various topics of law and a government documents section.

d. Foreign law section including statutes and court decisions from England and Canada.

e. Appeal papers. There are cases and briefs for almost all Wisconsin supreme court cases, but none for other jurisdictions.

The Library is staffed by the State (Law) Librarian, Marcia Koslov; the Deputy Librarian, Dennis Austin; a technical services librarian; an administrative assistant and a part-time law student. The staff totals 4.5 in Full Time Equivalents.

The budget for the State (Law) Library for 1974-75 was $106,000.

Tri-County Library Council

The Tri-County Library Council (TLC) was formed as a nonprofit, intertype library organization, with members from public, academic, school and special libraries in the counties of Racine, Kenosha, and Walworth. TLC was organized in April of 1974 with an initial membership of 10 libraries. After months of organizational meetings, by-laws were adopted in September of 1974. A Coordinator was hired by the Council in October and the number of member and affiliate organizations has now increased to over thirty.

Among the first objectives of TLC was a complete and comprehensive survey of library resources in the three-county area and the publication of a directory providing basic information about each of these resources. In cooperation with the Library Council of Metropolitan Milwaukee (LCOMM), TLC has published the results of the library resource survey as part of a seven county directory of school, public, special and academic libraries titled Library and Information Centers in Southeastern Wisconsin. TLC plans to compile a union list of serials to facilitate interlibrary loan service among participating agencies. The purpose of these projects is to coordinate activities of libraries in the Council area in a mutually beneficial manner so as to optimize the existing resources and serve the information needs of the readers in an efficient, successful and economic way.

TLC adopted a pilot inauguration of the Illinois Regional Library Council's INFOPASS program. It will be introduced simultaneously with the publication of the Directory. The program will permit libraries to refer their patrons to other participating libraries when unable to fill a request with resources on their own premises. The originating library bears the responsibility for screening the request, verifying the existence of the necessary resources at a participating member, and the willingness of that member to render service. The Council will absorb the cost of printing INFOPASS cards and a brochure which describes the program.

Other activities of TLC include: publication of a TLC brochure providing a brief overview to the Council's purpose and objectives; publication of a monthly newsletter, TLC NEWS; TLC representation at major professional library meetings; acting as a clearinghouse for the exchange of bibliographies from libraries and state agencies; and planning future actions and programs to meet the objectives and purpose of the Tri-County Library Council.

Tools for Sharing Resources

The libraries in Wisconsin, cooperating formally and informally to provide better service for library patrons, have shown a willingness to share resources. They have worked through a variety of channels to produce tools for sharing resources: union lists of serials, periodicals, and audiovisual materials, directories of libraries and information centers, and, in one instance, master's theses.

The 9 former state universities in Wisconsin have been producing a computerized union list of periodicals for a number of years. The libraries rotate the editing and print-out of each revised edition. Copies are distributed to the 9 participating libraries (Eau Claire, La Crosse, Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls, Stevens Point, Stout, Superior and Whitewater) and to the Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service (WILS) office. Another cooperative effort of the former state universities is Master's Theses and Seminar Papers–Former Wisconsin State Universities; 1935-1972. A catalog which came out in 1973 is University of Wisconsin System Video Tape Catalog. It contains the holdings of all former state university system libraries that wished to participate.

As mentioned in another section of this Service Record, Northeast Wisconsin Intertype Libraries (NEWIL), Madison Area Library Council (MALC), Library Council of Metropolitan Milwaukee (LCOMM), and Tri-County Library Council (TLC) have produced a number of tools to encourage resource sharing including:

NEWIL – Union List of Periodical Holdings
– Instructional Media Catalog
– NEWIL Post
– Directory of NEWIL Libraries

MALC – Directory of Libraries and Information Centers in Dane County
– Union List of Periodicals
– Newspapers Currently Received in Dane County Collections
– Directory of Staff Members of Libraries and Information Centers in Dane County
– MALC Informer

LCOMM – Directory of Libraries and Information Centers in Southeastern Wisconsin (with TLC)
– LCOMM News

TLC – Directory of Libraries and Information Centers in Southeastern Wisconsin (with LCOMM)
– Tri-County Library Council News

In addition to publications of these intertype library councils, the Lake Superior Association of Colleges and Universities recently completed a KWOC Title Index and Non-Print Media Catalog; the Southwest Wisconsin Association of Libraries produced a Southwest Wisconsin Library Directory; and, other local and regional organizations have produced a variety of union lists and directories to facilitate resource sharing in the areas they serve.

The Wisconsin Union List of Biomedical Serials, which came out in 1973, offers the medical and biomedical holdings of the 54 participating libraries and partial coverage of other holdings.

In 1974 the Union Catalog of Serials Currently Received in the Libraries of the University of Wisconsin–Madison was published. This bibliographic tool includes current serials holdings of Memorial Library, its 10 Branch Libraries, Steenbock Memorial Library (Agriculture), and the Engineering Library.

The University of Wisconsin–Madison Memorial Library has a microfilm record of its holdings as listed in its card catalog as of January 1, 1969. The WILS interloan office at the Memorial Library and MINITEX at the University of Minnesota have exchanged microfilmed copies of their campus union card catalogs. The Reference and Loan Library also has a microfilmed copy of the Memorial Library union card catalog.

A number of libraries and information centers in the state have access to computerized bibliographic data bases, enabling them to provide better service to users. Data bases available include: MEDLINE (MEDLARS, Medical Literature Analysis and Retrieval System, on line); BACKFILES (for MEDLINE); CCA (cancer research); TOXLINE (toxicity information); CATLINE (National Library of Medicine (NLM) catalog 1965+ on line); SERLINE (national biomedical network serials file); A-VLINE (A-V materials of NLM); SDILINE (to MEDLINE); ERIC (Educational Resources Information Center); WIRE (Wisconsin Information Retrieval for Education–to search the ERIC data base); Dialog (Lockheed data base); RECON (water research data base).

University of Wisconsin–Madison Libraries

The University of Wisconsin–Madison Memorial Library is the state's largest academic library. It has nearly 2.8 million volumes in its collection and had an operating budget of over 5.4 million dollars in 1973-74. The library had a staff of 320.5 in Full Time Equivalents (FTE) in fall 1974.

Enrollment on the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus for 1974 included 26,126 undergraduate students and 10,789 graduate students.

There are over 60 libraries and information centers on the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus. These range from large resource libraries such as the Medical Library, the Engineering Library, the Art Library and the Agricultural and Life Science Library to smaller specialized libraries such as the Map and Air Photo Library which has worldwide coverage of topographic, thematic and general maps and aerial photographs.

Wisconsin Health Science Library Network

Considerable progress has been made in the development and refinement of a Wisconsin health science library network within the past year. With increasing emphasis being placed on continuing education and recertification becoming mandatory in a number of health occupations, more and more members of the health care team are demanding rapid and easy access to current and highly-specialized informational materials. A statewide coordinator, headquartered at the Middleton Health Sciences Library at the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus, has had the responsibility of promoting this program.

The Wisconsin health science library network is a portion of the nationwide Biomedical Communications Network which has a pyramidal design. Local health science libraries, seeking information not within their own collections, refer requests to stronger and larger area collections. These libraries, in turn, may refer requests to the state resource libraries which receive back-up from other resource libraries in a six state area, and ultimately, the National Library of Medicine if necessary. The Wisconsin portion of the Biomedical Communications Network theoretically operated in this fashion. However, a change in the interlibrary loan program was necessary to shift primary responsibility for supplying more common materials from the shoulders of the two state resource libraries, the Medical-Dental Library of the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee and the UW Middleton Health Sciences Library, to those of well-developed area health science libraries.

Cooperative activities among area health science libraries of all sizes have expanded enormously. Currently, there are six health science library cooperatives or consortia in Wisconsin. (A consortium is a group of libraries, organized on either a subject or geographical basis, which share the cost of improved services and/or materials.) These consortia are (1) the Fox River Valley Area Library Cooperative, (2) the Northern Wisconsin Health Science Libraries Cooperative, (3) South Central Wisconsin Health Planning Area Cooperative, (4) the Southeastern Wisconsin Health Science Library Consortium, (5) the West Central Wisconsin Health Science Library Consortium, and (6) the Western Wisconsin Consortium. While members are predominantly health science libraries, membership is open to all interested libraries. Of special interest is that many of the eighty-four participating libraries rarely utilized the Biomedical Communications Network until recently; cooperative programs presently include interlibrary loan, reference service, development of union lists, coordinated serials acquisition and retention programs, and educational programs.

Wisconsin health science librarians have begun to take a much more active role in directing activities that will influence them as a whole. To provide input to state health science library programs, a representative from each of Wisconsin's comprehensive health planning areas, roughly the same geographic area covered by each consortium, has been elected. The area representatives form the coordinating body of the Wisconsin Health Science Librarians. Presently, they are organizing a consultation program in which practicing hospital librarians will supply their expertise and knowledge to institutions with new developing health science libraries. They will also assist in other areas, such as library planning and construction or developing specialized collections such as those needed in the field of mental health. In addition, they are developing guidelines and a set of standards for consultation services. Each representative is also responsible for communicating to her constituents decisions and announcements made by the area representatives; and for conveying any comments, complaints and questions of their constituents to the area representatives' group, the resource library directors and the state coordinator.

Meanwhile, promotion of existing health science library resources to potential users of these collections continues to be the on-going responsibility of the statewide coordinator with the assistance of all of Wisconsin's health science librarians. Informing the potential users of the readily available materials and getting them to utilize these materials is frequently one of the most difficult tasks of health science librarians throughout Wisconsin.

Wisconsin Information Retrieval for Education (WIRE)

Those who require access to educational research and resource information can find reference assistance to the computerized files of the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) system through WIRE (Wisconsin Information Retrieval for Education).

The WIRE program operates in the Department of Public Instruction, Information Systems Section of the Division for Management and Planning Services. WIRE uses a computer terminal connected to the Madison Academic Computing Center on the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus to search over 200,000 entries in the ERIC files; print abstracts of the citations retrieved are then sent to the patron. Typical entries in ERIC include reports, speeches, conference proceedings and other "fugitive" materials from the field of education.

WIRE operates on a system of partial cost recovery. Clients outside the Department of Public Instruction staff are required to pay $10 per search. The charge includes any followup searching required to meet the client's need on the original question. Clients are encouraged to come into the WIRE offices in the DPI at 126 Langdon Street in Madison to place their requests. Where this is impractical, phoned or written requests are acceptable. Normal turn around time for the service is ten days to two weeks including mailing.

Recently, the WIRE service began an effort to decentralize the service through cooperation with Cooperative Educational Service Agencies (CESA) in Green Bay and Waukesha. CESA 9 at 1927 Main Street in Green Bay and CESA 16 at 615 W. Moreland Blvd. in Waukesha are now capable of offering WIRE service on a regional basis. Patrons in these areas can now contact the CESA offices directly for ERIC searches.

Plans for expansion of the WIRE network to other areas of the state based on similar CESA cooperation are in preparation. Further development of WIRE resources is also planned in an attempt to offer a wider range of materials available through computer search.

Further information about WIRE can be obtained by calling Roy Tally, Supervisor of the WIRE system at (608) 266-2127 or by writing to WIRE, Department of Public Instruction, 126 Langdon Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53702.

Wisconsin Information Service

Since 1969 a federal grant administered by the Wisconsin Division on Aging, Department of Health and Social Services, has been used to develop and refine a method of providing a program of information and referral services. This program has two goals:

a. To increase the accessibility of human services to people in need.

b. To investigate the utility of data that are made available through information and referral centers to planners of human services.

The Division on Aging, through the staff of the Information and Referral Project, is currently operating a network of 13 information and referral centers throughout the state. The centers are located in public and private agency settings. The following cities have centers:

Ashland
Beloit
Cashton
Eau Claire
Fond du Lac
Green Bay
Madison
Manitowoc
Milwaukee
Oconto
Reedsburg
Waukesha
Wisconsin Rapids

Each of these centers serves one or more counties, although there are some areas of Wisconsin that are not covered by the project. The network itself is known as the Wisconsin Information Service (WIS).

As this publication goes to press the services of WIS as it has operated since 1969 are scheduled to be transferred by July 1, 1975, to the nine Area Agencies on Aging. The AAAs have a federal mandate to furnish I&R service to all persons in need of such services regardless of age. These services may emanate directly from the Area Agencies or be contracted from other agencies.

At present, exploration of how public libraries might serve either as host agencies or as satellite models to allow hook-up with the WIS system is being carried forward. This exploration is being conducted by an ad hoc committee of representatives from the Division for Library Services, the University of Wisconsin, Madison, School of Library Science, UW–Extension Department of Communication, numbers of directors and service staff from public libraries and public library systems and staff from the Department of Health and Social Services–Division on Aging.

Madison Public Library is currently serving as a host agency to test the feasibility of this type of public library involvement.

Wisconsin Instant Information System for Students and Counselors

The Wisconsin Instant Information System for Students and Counselors (WISC) program is designed to provide occupational information for use by secondary school students and counselors in a systematic and flexible format. Using electronic data processing and microfilm systems in an aperture card, WISC describes over 314 occupations which do not require a college degree for job entry. In addition, the system describes over 80 public and private schools in Wisconsin which offer training beyond high school for many of the occupations described.

The program is funded by the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title III, and the Vocational Education Act.

The card deck, an index, and updated materials are supplied at no cost to schools and other governmental agencies. These will be made available to public libraries free upon request.

As of April, 1975 the total number of WISC users was 513 including public and non-public high schools, junior high schools, job service offices, state agencies, VTAE schools and special education classes throughout Wisconsin.

Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service

The Wisconsin Interlibrary Loan Service (WILS) was established at the University of Wisconsin–Madison Memorial Library in the fall of 1972 by the Council of Wisconsin Librarians, Inc. (COWL) through a formal contractual agreement with the University of Wisconsin–Madison to provide access to Madison campus library collections and share resources among Wisconsin's public and private academic institutions of higher education. WILS was located on the Madison campus in recognition of the unique and extensive library resources available and, as such, is engaged in loan of books and materials in microformat, as well as photocopy of periodical articles, from Madison campus library collections, including the State Historical Society of Wisconsin.

The WILS Office has been funded since its inception by the 46 participating academic libraries. In addition, a Division for Library Services (DLS) request for state funding of a resource contract with the University of Wisconsin–Madison for library services and resources through WILS began in the 1973-75 biennium in the amount of $125,000 for the two year period. A request has been submitted in the Division for Library Services 1975-77 biennial budget to fund this resource contract at a level of $145,000. These funds provide base support to the WILS operation, which has undertaken direct responsibility for backing services to the clientele served by the Reference and Loan library for material available in the University of Wisconsin–Madison Campus Library System. With service to the academic libraries and the clientele served by Reference and Loan, WILS is providing a viable service to the citizens of the state of Wisconsin. In late 1974, COWL applied for and was granted LSCA Title III (Interlibrary Cooperation) funding by DLS to provide for a WILS Teletype Network for a six-month period, January through June, 1975. This Network is now operative and equipment has been installed in 44 of the 46 WILS participating academic libraries.

The purpose of WILS is to provide maximum and equitable multiple use of Wisconsin library resources with a minimum of effort and without conflict of interest. In times of cost escalation, insatiable user demands, uncertain funding, and the literature/information explosion, cooperative use and planning are essential in order to make judicious use of available funding and library resources. A program such as WILS helps in this by supplementing local resources and enabling libraries to provide the necessary service to meet the needs of students, faculty and citizens of the state of Wisconsin which they could not offer independently.

The service provided by WILS includes expanded and expedited interlibrary loan. Patrons who have information needs that cannot be met by their own library are assisted by having their requests transmitted via teletype or, in some cases, by U.S. Mail to the WILS Office. Program personnel search, locate and retrieve the material from any of 20 libraries on the Madison Campus, charge out or photocopy the material in the host library, and return it to the WILS Office where it is prepared for mailing. Approximately 60% of the filled requests are in the mail within 48 hours of the initial receipt of the request. Longer periods for mailing result from items circulating on the Madison Campus, lost, at the bindery, not yet received, etc.

In addition to having the capability of accessing collections in all other WILS academic libraries, WILS has initiated an interface with MINITEX (Minnesota Interlibrary Telecommunications Exchange) which provides access to major additional library resources for all members of both networks. In an attempt to facilitate this access, WILS and MINITEX have exchanged microfilmed copies of their respective campus union card catalogs, as well as printed serials lists. WILS also has pilot projects underway with the Medical–Dental Library of the Medical College of Wisconsin and with the Midwest Health Science Library Network (MHSLN), a component of the National Library of Medicine, to provide materials on a reciprocal basis.

During the 1973-74 fiscal year, WILS processed in excess of 49,000 requests, with an overall success rate of 78%. Academic library filled requests totaled 33,381 or 82% of requests submitted; public library filled requests totaled 4,915 or 60% of requests submitted. Although the percentage of successful fills for public library requests is considerably lower than for the academic libraries, it is understandable in view of the fact that public libraries request books over periodical articles at the rate of 4 to 1, while academic libraries reveal a reverse ratio. Books are in constant demand and circulation by the 40,000 plus faculty, students and staff on the Madison Campus and are, therefore, not as readily available as periodicals which do not circulate on the Madison Campus. It is estimated that the level of requests WILS will receive in 1974-75 will exceed 75,000.

Less than 2% of the books borrowed from Madison Campus library collections and loaned through WILS have had to be recalled for Madison campus patrons. This is a significant statistic and appears to shatter the myth that large academic research libraries cannot share their resources without conflict of interest. During the life of WILS, over 800,000 photoduplication exposures have been made and forwarded to requesting libraries.

Staffing levels for WILS have gone from an initial complement of six, to 20 at the end of 1974. Of this number, four are full-time employees, while 16 are student assistants who work on the average of 20-30 hours per week. It is estimated that this figure will increase to a staff of approximately 25 during 1975.

While the scope, services and work load of WILS have increased at a phenomenal rate since 1972, future needs and goals are receiving constant attention. Among these are: (1) the realization for the need and a serious commitment by the entire Wisconsin library community to the development of a Wisconsin Union List of Serials including holdings of academic, public, school, special and state agency libraries as the only way to achieve effective and efficient sharing of resources on a statewide basis; (2) continued investigation for avenues of funding for the WILS Teletype Network after the LSCA grant expires, and even legislative funding for the entire WILS operation which has its precedent with the Minnesota legislative funding of MINITEX; (3) providing a formal, comprehensive reference and information service as an important and essential component of WILS service to the state; (4) providing access to machine-readable bibliographic data bases, such as ERIC, CHEMCON, NY TIMES INFORMATION BANK, and so forth; (5) active participation of WILS in the emerging MIDLNET (Midwest Library Network) to be a component in the services which this regional network will offer, as well as benefiting from those services.

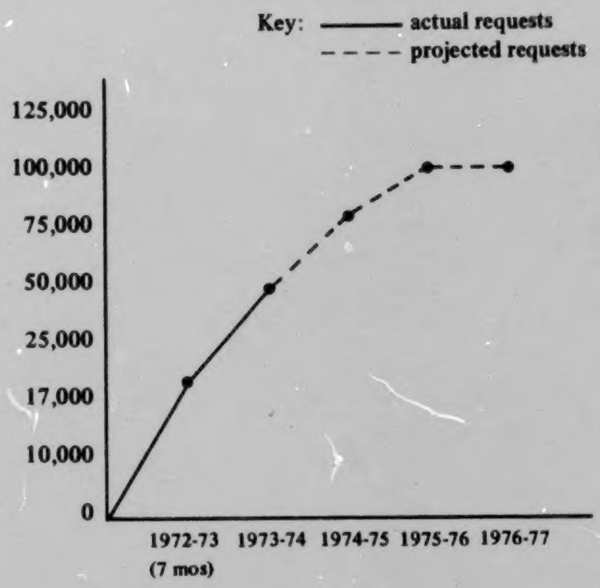
Wisconsin Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped

In 1961 state legislation enabled the establishment of a Wisconsin Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped in the Milwaukee Public Library, under a contract administered by the Department of Public Welfare (now the Department of Health and Social Services). The Regional Library was established as an extension of the Library of Congress, Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

In 1970, responsibility for the contract with the Milwaukee Public Library to administer the Regional Library was transferred to the Division for Library Services.

WILS REQUESTS
(Fiscal Years)



The Regional Library receives talking books and machines, cassettes and cassette machines, and braille materials from the Library of Congress. The state contract provides funds for staff and operating costs. The Milwaukee Public Library houses and administers the Regional Library and provides its large-print book collection for circulation. It is important to note that the reading materials supplied by the Library of Congress do not adequately fill the needs of readers. Specialized and local interest materials must be supplied from state or donated funds.

Wisconsin has approximately 44,200 individuals who, because of temporary or permanent visual or physical disabilities, are unable to read ordinary print comfortably, and thus require and are eligible for the Regional Library's specialized library materials.

The 1974 Annual Report of the Regional Library reveals that there are 6,764 readers registered for services in the following categories:

Braille	301
Cassettes	1,239
Large Print	382
Magnetic Tape	158
Talking Book	4,684.

Some readers are users of more than one form of material and are counted twice. The actual number of persons registered, therefore, is about 5,400. The service of the Regional Library is extended also to 545 agencies, as follows:

Libraries	135
Schools	76
Nursing Homes	235
Hospitals	59
Other	40.

The Library of Congress, Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, multiplies each institution by 10 to determine total readership. In this calculation, the total readership of the Regional Library would be 12,214. The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Department of Health and Social Services, provides information on potential eligible readers to the Regional Library, and helps to inform those eligible readers of available services. Several public libraries have developed noteworthy service programs, usually in cooperation with the Regional Library. Numerous agencies, volunteers and volunteer groups have made valuable contributions.

A second major library resource for the blind and physically handicapped in Wisconsin is the Wisconsin School for the Visually Handicapped in Janesville, which serves not only its resident student population but also eligible users throughout the state with school-related materials. The school is administered by the Division for Handicapped Children, Department of Public Instruction. The school receives one copy of each appropriate talking and braille book through the Regional Library from the Library of Congress. A Professional Services Center has been established at the school with these functions:

a. Work with Wisconsin School for the Visually Handicapped teachers in preparation of materials: videotape, audiotape, compressed speech, games and other aids, print (Bruning copier), laminating, and braille.

b. Provisions of a retrieval system of materials for local public school systems.

c. Provision of an inventory to clarify what materials are available and where they are located.

The Volunteer Services Center, located in the Milwaukee Public Library, is the only centralized transcription agency for blind and partially-sighted individuals in Wisconsin. It began in October, 1965 with 11 volunteers; today, over 250 men and women volunteer their time to help in its programs. They transcribe materials in three media: braille, enlarged type and tape records. Materials vary from cookbooks to the Greek classics to children's "picture" books (with cats and mittens the child can feel). The books are not only transcribed, but illustrated and bound at the Center. These services are available to any eligible person in the state. The Center operates entirely on donated services and funds.

CHAPTER 3
LIBRARY/MEDIA EDUCATION PROGRAMS IN WISCONSIN

Task Force on Library Manpower and Education

The Wisconsin Council on Library Development appointed a Task Force on Library Education and Manpower early in 1974 to implement one of its objectives which is to evaluate library personnel requirements in Wisconsin and to make recommendations on library education programs.

The Task Force functions through a Steering Committee and 3 working groups, 1 on library manpower requirements, 1 on certification requirements for library personnel and 1 on library education. Persons serving on the Task Force are broadly representative of the library community in Wisconsin.

The Task Force is to complete its work and submit its report and recommendations to the Council on Library Development on June 30, 1975. Muriel Fuller, University of Wisconsin–Extension, Department of Communication Arts, is chairman of the Task Force. David Hoffman is Project Coordinator. The following is taken from the Library Manpower Study Report.

Introduction

Library and media education programs are offered in a variety of public and private post-secondary institutions in Wisconsin. Continuing education programs for library and media personnel are offered by these institutions, and by a number of governmental agencies and professional organizations. This review attempts to include those campus-based programs which lead to diplomas or degrees in the library science and audio-visual fields or meet requirements for certification by an appropriate government or professional agency. It also examines continuing education programing by other library-related agencies and organizations, including the major professional library and media bodies in the state.

One- and Two-Year Programs

District One Technical Institute has a one-year program leading to a diploma for audio-visual assistants. The program is designed to train individuals in audio-visual assistants. The program is designed to train individuals in audio-visual equipment operation and utilization and to audio-visual equipment oepration and utilization and to give an understanding of the relationship of media to the whole area of communication. General education courses and library orientation are included in the program, as well as instruction in the audio-visual field.

Alverno College and Gateway Technical Institute have two-year programs leading to associate degrees in library science or library/media education. Graduates of these programs meet library education requirements for Grade 3 Public Librarian Certificates required for heads of public libraries in communities of 2,000 to 4,000 population, and required of certain positions in larger libraries, depending on local library policies. They are also employed as aides or technicians in academic, special and school libraries, although no certification requirement has been established for positions at this level in these kinds of libraries.

The program at Gateway Technical Institute is a terminal course, not intended for transfer to a four-year degree program. The two-year program at Alverno College utilizes courses which may be subsequently credited toward a bachelor's degree.

The Madison Area Technical College, the Milwaukee Area Technical College, and the Western Wisconsin Technical Institute have two-year programs leading to associate degrees in visual communications or visual media. Technicians who complete these programs are trained to work with professional personnel in the production of materials and the operation and maintenance of audio-visual equipment. They are employed in school media programs and in industry, government, and health institutions.

Undergraduate Programs—Library Science and Audio-Visual Minor

Undergraduate programs leading to a minor in library science, library media education, or instructional media are offered on fifteen campuses: Alverno, Marian, Northland, Silver Lake and Viterbo Colleges, and the University of Wisconsin units in Eau Claire, La Crosse, Madison, Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls, Stevens Point, Superior and Whitewater. The State Department of Public Instruction has approved programs in each of these institutions leading to a three-year license for school librarians. Courses in library administration, selection of materials, reference, and cataloging and classification, offered in each of these programs, are accepted by the Department's Division for Library Services as meeting librarianship course work requirements for Grade 2 Public Librarian Certificates. A minor in library science from any of these institutions will meet the library education requirements for provisional certification as a librarian in rules established by the State Board of Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education.

Some graduates with minors in library science are employed in academic and special libraries, according to placement information furnished by the institutions, although no certification requirements prevail for these positions. General class specifications for state Civil Service positions do not show positions for which a college degree with a library science minor is a requirement, but a four-year degree including some library science courses or supplemented by library experience is required for positions in the Library Technician and Library Associate series.

All of the undergraduate programs in library education offer minors which meet or exceed the state requirements for the three-year license as a school librarian. Most, but not all of the library education programs are within schools or colleges of education. Some offer minors to students outside the education field, and some offer courses in administration of libraries other than school libraries, and field work in non-school libraries to students who are not preparing for school library credentials.

Some undergraduate minor programs also contain professional courses which satisfy initial requirements for audio-visual building coordinators in the public schools. Some courses of study may be augmented by one appropriate elective course in audio-visual instruction to meet this requirement.

Certain undergraduate courses in librarianship may be required or desirable for admission to graduate study in the field, but not all graduate programs require or will recognize courses taken at the undergraduate level.

The University of Wisconsin–La Crosse offers an undergraduate minor in Audio-Visual Media to students in the College of Arts, Letters and Sciences, and in the College of Education. In the latter, it fulfills audio-visual education requirements for certification as Audio-Visual Director by the Department of Public Instruction. Twelve students completed the audio-visual minor during the twelve-month period ending August 31, 1974.

Undergraduate Programs–Library Science Major

The University of Wisconsin–Oshkosh offers an undergraduate major in library science which meets, for School of Education students with professional education requirements, certification as school librarians and audio-visual coordinators. Students in the College of Letters and Science with a major in library science meet requirements for a Grade 2 Public Librarian Certificate, and are eligible upon graduation for paraprofessional positions in public, academic, and special libraries. A practicum in a non-school library is required for both Education and Letters and Science students; those in Education also take an Education practicum. The University of Wisconsin–Oshkosh reports 35 students completing the library science major during the year ending August 31, 1974.

Graduate Programs–Master's Degrees in Library Science

Graduate programs leading to master's degrees in library science are offered at the University of Wisconsin campuses in Madison, Milwaukee and Oshkosh. The master's degree in library science offers one means of fulfilling educational requirements for an unlimited credential as school librarian established by the State Department of Public Instruction, and one means of meeting the professional education requirement for standard five-year certification for librarians issued by the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education. A master's degree in library science or related area is one of the requirements for School Librarian Supervisor, a certification offered by the Department of Public Instruction but not presently required by Wisconsin public schools. It is part of the educational requirement for positions in the Librarian, Librarian Supervisor, and Public Library Consultant series in Wisconsin State Civil service. Specific educational qualifications for librarian positions in Federal civil service vary according to level of responsibility and scope of assignment.

The master's degree is recognized as a basic educational requirement for beginning professional librarian positions in the American Library Association's policy statement "Library Education and Manpower", adopted by the Council of the American Library Association, June 30, 1970. The American Library Association is authorized by the Commission on Post-Secondary Education (formerly the National Commission on Accrediting) as the accrediting agency for graduate programs of library education leading to the first professional degree.

Persons with fifth-year degrees from library school programs accredited by the American Library Association meet the professional requirements for Grade 1 public library certification in Wisconsin, and as such are eligible to hold positions as heads of public libraries in counties or municipalities of 8,000 population or over, (except cities of the first class, to which such certification does not apply) and as heads of public library systems.

There is no uniform statewide educational requirement for employment of librarians in academic or special libraries, although the American Library Association's standards for college libraries (those adopted in 1959 and the 1975 revised draft not yet presented for adoption at the time of this writing) specify as professional preparation for a librarian a graduate degree from an ALA-accredited program. Actual requirements of academic libraries in Wisconsin vary from institution to institution. Relatively few of the special libraries listed in the 1973 Wisconsin Library Service Record indicated employment of one or more persons with fifth-year degrees in library science; many of the libraries have less than one person in total staff, including all levels of education.

Graduation from a library school program accredited by the American Library Association is one of the requirements for certification as a Medical Librarian under the Code for Certification and Training of Medical Librarians of the Medical Library Association; under the Code for Certification of Health Sciences Librarians and Library Technicians, to be implemented in 1976, the requirement continues. Certification by the Medical Library Association is voluntary and not necessarily a condition for employment in a medical library. A graduate degree from a library school program accredited by the American Library Association fulfills one of the requirements for certification by the American Association of Law Libraries. This certification is voluntary and not necessarily a condition for employment in a law library.

The Library School at the University of Wisconsin–Madison lists as its goals:

(1) To prepare graduates to serve as librarians, teachers of librarianship, and investigators of library problems;
(2) To enlarge the body of knowledge of librarianship;
(3) To provide service to libraries, practicing librarians, and other agencies.

It offers not only a master's program but also programs leading to specialist certificates and doctoral degrees; these latter will be discussed in a succeeding section of this chapter. The school also makes certain of its graduate courses available to be part of a minor in the School of Education, as noted in an earlier section of this chapter.

The objectives of the master's program, as stated by the school, are to provide students with:

(1) An introduction to the field of librarianship;
(2) Preparation in selected basic skills and knowledge in the field;
(3) Opportunity for preliminary specialization.

The program leads to a M.S. or a M.A. degree. (The degree granted to students entering in January 1975 and later will be the M.A.) Elective courses in particular aspects of librarianship combined with electives from related academic and professional areas may be selected to develop preliminary specialization in such fields as school librarianship, public library service to children and youth or adult services, reference and information services, academic library bibliography, special library service and archive-manuscript administration among others.

The School of Library Science at the University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee offers an instructional program, primarily at the graduate level, to prepare students who already hold the baccalaureate degree, for beginning professional service in libraries, information systems, and materials centers. The special focus of the master's program is urban library and information service with particular attention to the problems of developing and maintaining this type of service in a large municipal setting. Course sequences are available for each of the basic types of libraries (school, public, academic and special) as well as for many of the special activities involved in library and information service. The program leads to the degree of Master of Arts in Library Science.

Advanced courses offered by the School may be elected by master's candidates who have completed the necessary prerequisites, and by post-master's students who wish to continue their professional education or develop a special competence in some phase of urban library and information services. These courses are also open to graduate students in other fields of study, provided that they have completed the appropriate basic courses (or their equivalent) in the School of Library Science or in another recognized college or university.

The Department of Library Science at the University of Wisconsin–Oshkosh offers courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts in Library Science with the following objectives:

(1) To prepare professional librarians of high caliber by offering 1) basic core curriculum involving theory, concepts, techniques, and procedures essential to adequate performance in any type of library, and 2) specialized courses to equip candidates for particular types of libraries (college, university, public, school, or special) and for a particular type of work in a given library (information retrieval, reading guidance, bibliography, materials selection, technical processing, or administration).
(2) To inspire some master's candidates with the need for progress in librarianship to the extent that they will continue their studies in pursuit of the doctorate and/or produce research.

The Library School at the University of Wisconsin–

Madison is accredited by the American Library Association. Both the School of Library Science at the University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee and the Department of Library Science at the University of Wisconsin–Oshkosh list as goals achieving accreditation by the American Library Association.

Each of the graduate programs reports admitting students on a special or continuing capacity outside the normal degree track, but interested in continuing education, updating previous education, or meeting certification requirements.

Courses may be open to students who do not intend to enter the library manpower pool, but relatively few students take courses under such circumstances in any of the graduate programs.

The Madison program has an enrollment capacity of approximately 175 students (FTE) for combined undergraduate and master's level programs, and currently is operating at that capacity with total head count enrollment in the 235 range. The Milwaukee program, with a higher percentage of part-time students, has about 200 persons enrolled, and while there is no stated limit on enrollment, present physical facilities for the school will not accommodate more (consideration is being given to relocating the school in larger quarters). The Oshkosh program does not presently have an enrollment limit.

Placement statistics for the three master's programs in library science were furnished in the course of field visits between January 8 and February 7, 1975. Some graduates reported as either looking for employment or "other" may have changed their status by the date of publication of this report.

Graduate Programs–Post-Master's Programs in Library Science

The Library School of the University of Wisconsin–Madison offers two programs of study beyond the master's degree: a sixth-year specialist program and a doctoral program.

The Specialist in Librarianship Certification program is a second-year graduate program, combining specialization in librarianship with advanced study in an academic discipline or related professional field. An applicant for admission to the program must hold a fifth-year professional degree in library science and have had at least two years of professional library experience following that degree. A statement of professional interest and reasons for wishing to enter advanced study must be submitted. Programs are tailored to the particular needs of the student; an oral examination in the area of specialty is required, as is a specialist paper.

One person completed the specialist program during the twelve months ending in August, 1974, and is employed in an out-of-state academic library.

The Library School of the University of Wisconsin–Madison also offers a Ph.D. program preparing librarians for the fields of education, research in librarianship, and administration of large systems of libraries. The doctoral degree is a research degree. A minor in an outside field is required; further work in another academic field is permitted. Applicants for admission must hold a master's degree in Library Science from an accredited library school, and should have completed at least two years of professional library experience following the first professional degree prior to engaging in doctoral study.

The Ph.D. was awarded to three persons in the twelve months ending August 31, 1974; of these one is employed in an out-of-state academic library, and two are teaching in library education programs.

Graduate Programs—Audio-Visual Communications, Educational Media, Educational Technology/Instructional Materials

Graduate programs in the audio-visual and instructional materials fields are offered at four units of the University of Wisconsin: La Crosse, Madison, Milwaukee, and Stout.

The program at the University of Wisconsin–La Crosse has as its objectives: to train audio-visual directors and coordinators, for the elementary and secondary schools of Wisconsin and other states; to train media specialists to administer in and supervise instructional materials centers; to provide audio-visual specialists and coordinators for business, industry and other institutions of higher learning; to train professionals to provide leadership in design, implementation, and evaluation of programs in education which makes the fullest use of new media; and to prepare teachers to operate and properly utilize audio-visual media in the classroom. Courses in cataloging and classification, school instructional materials centers, and operation and management of library and materials centers may be included in the degree program, and graduates may be certified as audio-visual directors by the Department of Public Instruction. The degree of Master of Science in Audio-visual Media is offered.

The program in Educational Technology and Instructional Materials within the Department of Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Wisconsin–Madison places emphasis on instructional development in the broad sense, and draws students from a variety of professional fields in addition to those in education. Its objectives include the development of an understanding of theory and research in media, the preparation of teachers with media competencies, and of trainers with instructional design capability. Courses are available which will meet requirements for certification as Audio-Visual Directors by the Department of Public Instruction. The Degrees of Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy in Curriculum and Instruction, with an emphasis on Educational Technology are offered.

The Department of Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee offers courses in instructional technology and instructional media which, as a part of a Master's Degree in Curriculum and Instruction, will meet requirements for certification as an Audio-Visual Director by the Department of Public Instruction.

The program at the University of Wisconsin–Stout is designed to prepare students for a professional career in educational media. Upon completion of the program the student is qualified to plan, produce, and utilize media, teach courses in the audio-visual area, and administer media programs in education, industry and government. Each graduate will be proficient in the production, storage, retrieval, and distribution of media; well grounded in curriculum, communication, and learning theory and administrative procedures, and have a basic knowledge of research techniques. The degree of Master of Science in Audio-Visual Communications is awarded. A variety of options are available in course selection, and programs are tailored to meet the backgrounds and needs of degree candidates. Courses in media reference fundamentals, media selection, media cataloging and organization, media retrieval systems, and educational media administration are available.

Statistics for the master's degree program for the La Crosse, Madison, and Stout campuses for the year ending August 31, 1974 are as follows:

University of Wisconsin–La Crosse	18
University of Wisconsin–Madison	4
University of Wisconsin–Stout	26

The University of Wisconsin–Madison awarded two Ph.D.'s in the field in the period covered. One recipient is employed in teaching and administration of audio-visual services at the University level in Wisconsin, and one is employed in university audio-visual administration out of state.

Off-Campus Programs

Many of the library/media education programs within the University of Wisconsin system offer courses for academic credit in off-campus locations. Some of these have been within the immediate area of the campus (e.g., communities in the surrounding counties) and some have been offered on the opposite side of the state, depending on the nature of the course and the specific needs of the students enrolled.

Campus-Based Non-Credit Programs

More than half of the library education programs considered in this review offer non-credit continuing education opportunities through workshops, seminars, colloquia, conferences, and the like. The level of annual programing varies, according to constraints on faculty time and on budgets. In addition to workshops designed to meet specific needs in an area or institution (e. g., special programs designed for library/media personnel in a given school district), some of the programs have held annual conferences for librarians for some years.

The University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee sponsored an annual workshop for School Librarians in their first year of practice for three years; the workshop was not held, however, in 1974. The University of Wisconsin–Oshkosh holds an annual conference for librarians from all types of libraries; the 5th annual conference held in 1974 was on the theme "Social Change and the Library". The University of Wisconsin–Platteville held its 19th annual School Librarians' Workshop in 1974. The University of Wisconsin–Stout's 9th Annual Educational Media and Technology Conference, held in July 1974, offered a variety of program sessions over a three-day period. And the University of Wisconsin–Whitewater held a summer conference for librarians for some ten years, but did not convene this meeting in 1974.

Colloquia series at the University of Wisconsin–Madison and the University of Wisconsin–Oshkosh while designed primarily for students currently enrolled in programs at those schools, are open to practicing librarians across the state.

University of Wisconsin–Extension Programs in Library Science

The Department of Communication of the University of Wisconsin–Extension offers a course in Basic Library Management for Public Librarians (A-50) which is one means of meeting the library education requirement for Grades 2 and 3 Public Librarian Certificates. The course is in 14 2-hour sessions on the UW–Extension's Educational Telephone Network, and, while planned for heads of smaller public libraries, is also open to staff members. Enrollees must be employed in a Wisconsin public library. Forty-six persons were enrolled in this course in 1973-74; 73 are enrolled in 1974-75.

The Department also offers, via ETN, a course in Basic Library Management for Health Sciences Librarians. (A-51); it includes thirteen two-hour sessions and is designed to provide assistance to persons responsible for library service in medical settings. Twenty-two persons were enrolled in this course in 1973-74; it was not offered in 1974-75.

Through its Independent Study program, the University of Wisconsin–Extension also offers two correspondence courses in library science: A-54, Organization of Library Materials I, and A-55, Organization of Library Materials II. These courses are offered for the in-service training of those who have or seek responsibilities on a library staff, but they are not offered as a substitute for professional library education and do not earn academic credit toward a degree from the University of Wisconsin. Twenty-eight persons were actively enrolled in A-54 in March 1975, including 5 foreign students and 13 out-of-state students; 3 were enrolled in A-55, including one foreign student and two out-of-state students.

The University of Wisconsin–Extension's Educational Telephone Network continues to be the medium for a number of in-service and continuing education programs for library personnel. During the 1974-75 academic year, the Department of Communication offered the following series:

Continuing Education for Public Librarians: Cooperatively planned with the Division for Library Services, with suggestions for topics, program format, and speakers from a group of Wisconsin public librarians. Focus for the series during the year was The Year of the Book. 7 sessions.

Continuing Education for School Librarians and Media Specialists: Cooperatively planned with the Division for Library Services, involving practicing librarians through their expressions of need. During the year, sessions were planned on: New National Standards; Regional Media Centers and Services They Provide; Implementation of New State Standards; Current Trends in Young Adult Literature; Periodicals of Interests to Schools; and New and Interesting Audio-Visual Materials. 6 sessions.

One of a Kind: Four sessions, covering: Wisconsin Documents; Publishing in Wisconsin; Book Reviewing of Wisconsin Books; and Rare Books: A Treasure in Wisconsin.

Copyright Problems in Media Production: Planned especially for school librarians and media specialists, but open to librarians in all kinds of libraries. 3 sessions.

Contemporary Novels and Librarians: Provides an opportunity to read and discuss specific books and the general subject areas which they exemplify. 5 sessions; offered twice during the year.

Among the Department's workshops and institutes, planned or executed in cooperation with other agencies have been the following:

1. Management Planning and Education Workshop for Public Library Systems
2. Library Service to Jails: Inmates and Staff
3. Women in Library Administration
4. Workshop on Program Planning Processes for School Libraries/Media Centers
5. A World of Information On Line: Information Services: On Line Systems Demonstration
6. Library Services to Handicapped and Institutionalized Readers

Medical Library Service Program
Middleton Medical Library

The Medical Library Service program of the Middleton Medical Library provides a statewide continuing education program for medical library personnel. A series of medical library seminars is offered over the University of Wisconsin–Extension's Educational Telephone Network. During 1974-75, four seminars, each two hours in length, were presented at two-month intervals through the year; topics included Hospitalized Children, MEDLINE and MESH, Health Administration Literature, and Psychiatric Literature and Services.

The Medical Library Service also provides an annual workshop for medical librarians. The workshops vary in length according to subject. Continuing Education courses designed by the Medical Library Association are from time to time offered in this workshop series.

Wisconsin Audio-Visual and Library Associations

The Wisconsin Audio-Visual Association and its satellites offer a number of programs during the year for the continuing education of its members. Recent topics have included: copyright, new national standards, and the implications of recent state legislation. WAVA has from time to time sent official representatives to leadership conferences held out of state, and on some occasions has been able to provide some expenses for travel. WAVA and the Wisconsin Association of School Librarians held a joint spring meeting in February 1975 to consider the national media standards issued jointly by the American Association of School Librarians and the Association for Educational Communications and Technology.

The Wisconsin chapters of the Special Libraries Association and the American Society for Information Science were co-sponsors, with the University of Wisconsin–Extension Department of Communication, of a one-day workshop on Information Services in Madison in 1975. Both chapters have periodic meetings for their members.

The Wisconsin Library Association and its divisions provide a variety of continuing education opportunities through spring meetings and workshops as well as the annual conference in the fall.

The Division for Library Services

The Division for Library Services is actively involved in continuing education programs, participating in planning and in funding, with other organizations and agencies. In addition, the Division staff participate in planning and carrying out workshops for public and school library systems; the Division has initiated a statewide project to develop video training expertise in public libraries (to include training in use of equipment and script writing in individual libraries and library systems, and video production); Division grants make possible attendance at out-of-state workshops for selected Wisconsin librarians and provide scholarship support for some of the students enrolled in the University Extension course A-50, Basic Library Management for Public Librarians.

Public Library Systems are established and operate in compliance with Chapter 43, Wisconsin Statutes (Library Laws of Wisconsin). Library Systems are certified by the Division for Library Services and annually receive state aid payments.*

Cooperative Public Library Services are county or multi-county library service organizations [illegible] and operated locally.*

+Includes full-time and part-time professional librarians.

++Contract agreements among libraries, systems, cooperative services, and counties sometimes result in the same dollars counted twice. Where this "doubling of dollars" occurs in any significant amount, appropriate adjustments have been made to present a true picture of total income and total expenditures.

Public Libraries—State Summary

Wisconsin's public libraries had an active year in 1974 as reflected in the statistical summary presented on the preceding page. On January 1, 1974 four new public library systems began operations bringing to a total of eight the number of library systems operating in Wisconsin. Equally important was the fact that 1974 was the first year in which public library systems received 100 percent funding. In 1973, the first year of system operations in Wisconsin, the funding level was set at approximately 47 percent. County and multi-county system planning activities in 1974 resulted in three systems receiving provisional certification from the Division for Library Services to begin operations in 1975.

In 1974 Wisconsin public libraries offered library services to an increased number of persons, significantly lowering the number of residents without legal access to a public library. As mentioned before, public library systems increased in area, the number of persons served, and the number of system member libraries. The number of professional librarians employed in public libraries showed a marked increase. Library collections, in all categories, showed substantial increases. Finally, total library operating income from most sources showed increases and, correspondingly, library operating expenditures increased.

The following is a more detailed interpretation of the state summary statistics for public libraries in Wisconsin.

Population Served

Wisconsin's population in 1974, as estimated by the Wisconsin Department of Administration, was 4,586,061. Of this total, 4,366,534 residents, or 95.2 percent of the population, had legal access to public libraries. In 1973 Wisconsin public libraries offered services to 92.9 percent of the population. The increase in population served from 1973 to 1974 is a direct result of public library system planning and development. Systems established in 1974 and counties joining existing systems accounted for a substantial share of the increase in population served. Counties providing support to municipal libraries, to enable them to serve previously unserved county residents as a step toward system development, was another major factor in increasing the number of residents served. Population increases in areas already served by public libraries accounted for the remainder of the increase. In all, 159,571 more residents had legal access to public libraries in 1974 than had access in 1973.

In 1973, 1,583,859 persons (35 percent of Wisconsin's population), residing in 21 of Wisconsin's 72 counties, had legal access to the services provided by public library systems. In 1974, 2,045,204 persons (44.6 percent of the population), residing in 30 counties, had public library system services available to them. As of January 1, 1975, 2,771,771 residents (60.4 percent of the population), living in 36 counties, had access to public library system services. Because public library systems provide for library service to all residents of the system area, a greater number of Wisconsin residents are receiving public library services than ever before. The result of public library system growth has been not only the improvement of existing services, but also the expansion of library programs to serve an increased number of persons.

Two multi-county cooperative public library service program organizations provided services to 247,544 persons in 8 counties. These organizations operate under procedures defined and financed locally and account for library service to 5.4 percent of Wisconsin's population. Seventeen non-system counties, providing service to 1,286,851 residents (28.1 percent of the state's population), offered county-wide programs. The nature of these programs varied considerably, from access to public libraries for all residents in the county to county-wide services operated by a county library. Finally, individual community libraries served 786,935 residents (17.1 percent of the total population).

Unfortunately, in 1974 there were 219,527 residents in Wisconsin (4.8 percent of the population) who did not have legal access to public library services and materials. Although this compares favorably with 326,577 persons unserved in 1973, it indicates the increased effort Wisconsin must put forth to achieve its goal of public library service for all residents of the state. Approximately 62 percent of the persons unserved reside in counties that can be considered sparsely populated, while 38 percent reside in counties that are highly urbanized.

Public Libraries and Professional Librarians

In 1974, 338 public libraries operated in Wisconsin. Of this total number of public libraries, 126 libraries were members of public library systems as compared to 75 system member libraries in 1973. System member libraries operate with system headquarters and resource library back-up and in many cases receive state aid financial support provided by grants from the system boards. Of the remaining public libraries, 112 public libraries receive varying degrees of support from county-wide organizations. Of these 112 libraries, 34 operate cooperatively in multicounty organizations. Finally, 100 libraries offer services to and are supported by local communities. In many cases municipalities without public libraries contract with existing libraries to provide library service to residents.

The types of services and materials offered by public libraries in Wisconsin vary considerably. Although several highly populated communities have developed public libraries which offer high quality library services and programs, the majority of Wisconsin's libraries have operating budgets too low to permit anything more than a minimal range and depth of services. The following chart presents the 1974 operating budgets of public libraries by category.

Operating Budgets—Wisconsin Public Libraries 1974

Operating Budget	Number of Public Libraries	Percent of Total
0–$10,000	175	53.4
$10,000–$25,000	52	15.9
$25,000–$50,000	36	11.0
$50,000–$100,000	23	7.0
$100,000–$250,000	24	7.3
$250,000–$500,000	8	2.4
$500,000–$1,000,000	8	2.4
over $1,000,000	2	.6
Total	328*	100

Ten libraries unknown*

As can be seen from the above chart 227 public libraries in Wisconsin (69.3 percent of the total) have operating budgets of less than $25,000. Another 59 public libraries have operating budgets of between $25,000 and $100,000 (18 percent of the total). Twenty-four public libraries (7.3 percent of the total) operate in the $100,000–$250,000 budget range. Only 18 public libraries, 5.4 percent of the total, have budgets greater than $250,000, including 2 libraries with budgets greater than $1,000,000. Although public library system aid grants to system member libraries have undoubtedly raised operating budgets in some cases, many communities are still served by seriously inadequate small public libraries. Small public libraries in system areas benefit greatly by having direct access to the materials and services provided by system headquarters and resource libraries.

The number of professional public librarians, in full-time equivalents, increased significantly from 345 in 1973 to 386.1 in 1974, an increase of 11.9 percent. This increase is due to new or expanded facilities and the impact of state aid to public library systems. Of the 41 increased professional librarian staff positions, 21 positions were in public library system headquarters or resource libraries. Of the total number of professional librarians in Wisconsin, 122 or 31.6 percent are employed by the Milwaukee Public Library. System headquarters and resource libraries employ 45 percent of all professional librarians in Wisconsin.

Public Library Collections and Direct Loans

All categories of library collection materials showed increases over 1973 levels in 1974. Total volumes held by Wisconsin public libraries increased from 10,029,097 in 1973 to 10,491,408 in 1974, an increase of 4.6 percent. The number of titles added, the only category in 1973 to show a decrease from 1972, showed a substantial increase in 1974 over 1973. The number of titles added in 1974 was 333,128 as compared to 280,150 in 1973, an increase of 18.9 percent. Corresponding to the increase in titles added was a 17.1% increase in the number of volumes added. Presumably the titles added and volumes added increases are partly the result of public library system attempts to upgrade library book collections, an activity many systems placed in high priority in 1974.

The total number of periodical titles, excluding library duplicates, subscribed to by public libraries increased from 28,779 in 1973 to 31,281 in 1974, an 8.7 percent increase. Public library slide and film-strip collections increased in size showing a 5.2 percent increase in the number of physical units owned. Sound recordings (discs, cassettes, tapes) owned, by title, by libraries increased in number by 16.5 percent from 1973 to 1974.

As mentioned earlier, $2,195,351 in state aid payments were made to eight public library systems. It is evident from the increases in all categories of library collections that these funds have had a direct impact on Wisconsin libraries. It should also be noted that local appropriations to support community public libraries increased in amounts sufficient to provide for increased operating cost and to provide for library collection strengthening.

Direct loans to public library users in 1974, 23,514,734, remained at the level established in 1973. The stabilization in the number of direct loans over the last several years is probably due to several factors, including the following: decreased use of public libraries by children as school resources have improved; increased use of reference and information sources by young adults and adults, not reflected in circulation figures; growth of photocopying as a substitute for materials circulation; and increased use by groups and individuals of audio-visual materials inside public libraries, again not shown in circulation figures.

Library Operating Income

Public library operating income at $27,044,801 in 1974 showed a 16.7 percent increase over 1973, well above the average yearly growth of 9.7 percent experienced since 1970. Approximately one-third of the total increase in library income is due to full-funding of state aided public library systems. The remaining two-thirds of the increase is due to increased local effort. This means, in effect, that local appropriations have maintained and slightly added to the yearly growth factor of 9.7 percent. This is a clear indication that, in the first year of system full-funding, state aid funds not only did not replace local effort, but also did not slow local increases in appropriations.

Specifically, local appropriations from municipalities increased from $18,335,855 in 1973 to $20,419,763 in 1974, an increase of 11.4%. County appropriations went from $2,219,392 in 1973 to $2,379,706 in 1974, an increase of 7.2%. Together, local and county appropriations increased 10.9% from 1973 to 1974. Local and county appropriations were the major sources of library income in Wisconsin providing 84.3 percent (75.5 percent from localities and 8.8 percent from counties) of all operating income. State aid to public library systems accounted for 8.1 percent of all income.

The impact of General Revenue Sharing (GRS) on Wisconsin's public libraries has been minimal. A study completed by the Division for Library Services indicated that less than 10 percent of all public libraries were aware of GRS funds being applied to their library budgets. These libraries reported receiving over $1.3 million in GRS funds in 1974. However, of this total amount, over 98 percent was reported as being replacement money for funds the libraries would have normally expected to receive from local appropriations.

State, county, and locality income accounted for 92.4 percent of all income. Of the remaining 7.6 percent of total income, contract income accounted for 1.9 percent, all federal grants for .8 percent, and endowments, gifts, and other income for 4.9 percent of all income. Contract income, where municipalities without libraries contract with public libraries for services, will probably decrease in coming years as system development continues. In most cases individual contracts are replaced by a county tax for library support in system areas. Income from federal grants is expected to show an increase in 1975. It is uncertain whether or not the increases seen in recent years in the "other" income category will continue.

Library Operating Expenditures

The total operating expenditures of Wisconsin's public libraries were $25,376,574 in 1974, representing a 12.6 percent increase over 1973. This percentage increase is slightly higher than the yearly increases experienced since 1970. Again, the higher rate of increase is due, in part, to the state aid funds distributed to public library systems.

Expenditures for salaries, wages and employee benefits, which accounted for 68.7 percent of all expenditures, were $17,445,850 in 1974. This represents an increase of 12.9 percent over 1973. As was mentioned earlier, 41 new professional librarian positions were added in 1974, 21 of these in system headquarters and resource libraries. These added positions, along with the impact of inflation, reflected in employee salaries, are the probable causes of the significant percent increase over 1973.

Expenditures for library materials including books, periodicals, microforms, sound recordings, filmstrips, slides and other print and non-print materials were $3,978,600 in 1974, an increase of 15.5 percent over 1973. This increase in expenditures is in line with the increase in public library collections noted above. Although a percent of this increase must be attributed to the higher prices for books, periodicals and audio-visual materials, the state aid funds expended by system libraries for materials is also reflected in this increase. Expenditures for library materials accounted for 15.7 percent of all expenditures.

Contract expenditures by libraries for library services represent 1.9 percent of the total operating expenditures. The all other expenditures category, 13.7 percent of all expenditures, showed an increase of 17.9 percent over the 1973 level. This increase is due, in part, to the overall increase in expenditures. Another factor, however, is more accurate reporting of "hidden" operating expenditures by public libraries. "Hidden" costs are those items which do not appear in a library's budget, but which are an actual part of their operations. Those items are most often those costs directly related to a library's operations which are paid for directly by the municipalities. Some examples are library maintenance, employee fringe benefits, and heating and lighting (especially where the library shares a facility with another government unit).

Library capital expenditures from all sources of income showed an increase over 1973. Libraries reporting substantial amounts of capital expenditures for new facilities or improvement of existing facilities were: Sheboygan, $1,163,878; Door County, $598,183; Brown County, $361,340; Milwaukee, $287,685; Platteville, $165,026; Viroqua, $125,000; Janesville, $69,365; and Madison, $51,437. Since funding for Title II of the Library Services and Construction Act, for library construction and facility improvement, was minimal, and because the state aid to library systems program is not a construction program, it is assumed that the majority of these expenditures were made from funds provided locally.

Mobile Information Services in Wisconsin

Mobile Information Services in Wisconsin began with bookmobile service. The first bookmobile service in Wisconsin was established in 1936 in Shawano. In 1940 the second Wisconsin bookmobile was purchased by the WPA and sponsored by the American Legion Posts in Rock, Grant, Iowa and Crawford counties. For many years the Wisconsin Free Library Commission distributed traveling collections of books in an attempt to provide service to the rural residents of the state. The federal Library Services Act which began in 1956 provided money for service to rural residents. Some of the money in Wisconsin was spent for bookmobiles to demonstrate library services in the rural areas. Fennimore, Ashland and La Crosse were some of the places which received bookmobiles purchased with federal funds between 1956 and 1968. No longer is bookmobile service only available for rural residents. Many cities, including Milwaukee, fund extensive bookmobile programs. Bookmobile service is now supported by city, county, and public library system funds or a combination of these funds.

Mobile Services is more than a movable collection of books. It includes all of the following services and materials besides a basic book collection: reference service, interlibrary loan, readers' advisory service, records, pamphlets, framed art reproductions, mini-master art prints, magazines, filmstrips, 16mm films, super 8 movies, comic books and cassette tapes. There are 21 bookmobiles, 2 book trailers, 2 mobile libraries and 5 special service vans currently in operation throughout the state providing mobile information service to residents in 28 counties. The mobile units stop at post offices, shopping center, community buildings, schools, churches and under oak trees, or wherever people gather. The hours of the various units differ but include morning, afternoon and evening stops every day of the week including Saturday and Sunday stops in certain areas.

Special service vans are operated from five libraries: Wisconsin Rapids, Antigo, Marathon County, Stevens Point and West Allis. These units provide a variety of service to nursing homes, hospitals, jails as well as homebound, institutionalized and physically handicapped service.

The circulation from all of the mobile service vehicles is approximately 1,346,524 or about 6% of the total state public library circulation.

Mobile services in Wisconsin differ greatly from one area to another. The square mile area served varies from 8 square miles in the city of Kenosha to 8,333 square miles in the Northwest Library System. Some units visit stops every week; some only once a month. The length of the mobile unit stops varies in length from twenty minutes to 17 hours.

There are many special services also available from bookmobiles. In several counties storytelling is offered at the bookmobiles. Often bookmobiles are used to demonstrate library use to pre-schoolers. The city of Milwaukee offers special service to people over sixty. Some mobile units began providing service only to public and private schools, but the emphasis is changing since the school libraries are improving. Mobile units are stressing service to community areas.

Mobile information service, as its very name indicates, is a constantly changing service. Each year brings change in scheduling and stops, additional services, expanded services and new priorities. The staff of mobile service programs is in the process of establishing a roundtable of the Wisconsin Library Association and is holding a series of ETN programs and workshops. This will help improve services to the patrons throughout the state which is the ever present goal of mobile information services programs.

The following chart presents mobile information service program statistics for 1974.

PUBLIC LIBRARY SYSTEMS

In December of 1971 a new library law of Wisconsin was enacted providing state aid for public library systems.

The intent of the new law was to modernize the structure of public library service in line with governmental trends in the state and library trends throughout the country. Even though there were over 330 public libraries in Wisconsin, some 275,000 residents had no legal access to library service. Many of those who did have access had relatively limited service at the local library. Through cooperation and coordination among libraries of different sizes the public can receive a variety and depth of essential library materials and services.

The major emphasis of the law relates to public library systems. In the context of the law, a system is defined as a group of libraries organized to share services and materials to meet the full needs of all the people within a defined area. Cooperative programs, based on this philosophy, have been operating in Wisconsin for over fifty years, and many of them have been called "systems" regardless of how they are organized. However, to be certified as an approved system, it must be organized according to Chapter 43 of the state statutes.

The county is used as the basic unit of the library system in order to avoid a special purpose taxing district. At the same time, it was recognized that the population base must be large enough to provide good library service at a reasonable cost. Therefore, the law stipulates that a system must contain a population of at least 80,000 people (85,000 after 1981), which in many areas of the state will necessitate counties joining together to form approved library systems. In addition, each system must allow in its organizational structure for additional counties to join.

To establish a system, the county board of supervisors would appoint a library planning committee consisting of local citizens to study the library needs of the county. This planning committee would meet with similar committees in adjacent counties to determine the feasibility of establishing a multicounty system; or the committee would meet with the board of an already approved system to investigate the possibilities of joining that system. Upon determining the best method for the county, the committee would file a report of its findings and its recommendations to the County Board of Supervisors, and to the Division for Library Services, Department of Public Instruction. If the Division approves the plan, then the county board would act on the recommendations. Upon approval by the county board, those communities which maintain a public library would decide if they want to participate in the system or exempt the municipality from the system service.

Each system is governed by a board of trustees appointed by the county board(s). In a multicounty system the number of trustees from each county would be in proportion to its population, with each county having at least one representative. In no case, though, can a system have more than twenty trustees. Members are appointed for a three year term, with one-third being reappointed or replaced each year.

The system board, as a legal body, is responsible for establishing system policies and ensuring means to provide for equal service to all residents of the area. It is accountable for the proper expenditure of the monies appropriated for the system. One of the most important duties of the board is to file its annual plan describing the program for library services to be carried out the subsequent year and for the use of the state aid it will receive.

System services are financed by appropriations from the counties participating in the system and by state aid. The formula for determining the amount of state aid is comprised of three parts:

1. $.50 per person in the system area.
2. $6 per square mile in a single county system; $9 per square mile in a two-county system; $12 per square mile in a three-county system; $15 per square mile in a four-county system; and $18 per square mile in a system with five or more counties.
3. 7 percent of the total operating expenditures for all public library services in the system from local and county sources in the preceding year.

If the total state appropriation is lower than the amount to which each system is entitled, the Division for Library Services will pro-rate the funds among all the systems.

The Division for Library Services certified four systems the first year (January 1-December 31, 1973). These systems operating in 1974, were as follows:

1. La Crosse Area Library System, consisting of Juneau, La Crosse, Monroe and Trempealeau counties. The system serves 159,220 persons, includes 20 public libraries, and received $156,909 in state aid for 1974 operations.
2. Northwest Wisconsin Library System, consisting of Ashland, Bayfield, Burnett, Douglas, Iron, Sawyer, Vilas and Washburn counties. The system serves 125,923 persons, includes 21 public libraries, and received $232,558 in state aid for 1974 operations.
3. Wisconsin Valley Library Service, consisting of Clark, Forest, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Oneida, Portage, Taylor and Wood counties. This system serves 354,447 persons, includes 33 public libraries, and received $424,363 in state aid for 1974 operations.

4. Milwaukee County Federated Library System served most of Milwaukee County (except the cities of Cudahy, Oak Creek and South Milwaukee). This system serves 971,160 persons, includes seven public libraries, and received $984,355 in state aid for 1974 operations.

For the second year (January 1-December 31, 1974) the Division certified an additional four library systems to begin operations. These were as follows:

1. Southwest Wisconsin Library System, consisting of Crawford, Grant, Iowa, Lafayette and Richland counties. The system serves 120,669 persons, includes 28 libraries, and received $142,612 in state aid for 1974 operations.
2. Fond du Lac County Federated Library System, serving all the residents of the county plus the residents of Waupun which is located in both Fond du Lac and Dodge counties. The 93,022 residents are served by seven public libraries. The system received $80,922 in state aid for 1974 operations.
3. Manitowoc County Library System, serves 82,960 persons from three public libraries. The system received $69,694 in state aid for 1974 operations.
4. Rock County Library System, serves 137,803 persons from seven libraries. The system received $103,938 in state aid for 1974 operations.

Because the state aid appropriation was not sufficient for full formula funding for the first year, it was necessary to pro-rate at 47.5 percent of the formula. State aid payments to library systems totaled $818,000 for 1973. In 1974 the appropriation was sufficient to fully fund systems. State aid payments to library systems totaled $2,195,351 for 1974.

During 1974 planning committees continued to study the library needs of their counties. Six of these counties were able to complete their work and to have the plans approved by the Division for Library Services and their respective county boards. Thus, effective January 1, 1975, three new public library systems were formed and two counties joined existing systems. The new systems are as follows:

1. Brown County Library System, serving the 168,307 residents of the county from the Brown County Library.
2. South Central Library System, consisting of Dane and Sauk counties. This system serves 341,339 persons from 26 public libraries.
3. Outagamie County Federated Library System, serves 123,783 persons from 7 public libraries.

In addition, Adams County joined the Wisconsin Valley Library Service, bringing system services to another 10,648 persons. Dodge County joined the Fond du Lac County Library System to form the Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System increasing the population of that system to 159,840 and the number of libraries to 15. Oak Creek and Hales Corners in Milwaukee County also joined the Milwaukee County Federated Library System.

As of January 1, 1975 there were 11 public library systems, including 36 counties, serving 2,771,771 persons (over 60 percent of the state's population) from 171 public libraries.

Planning committees are continuing to meet and make plans to improve library services for their residents. In 1976 more new systems are expected to begin operations and some systems will expand to include neighboring counties.

FOND DU LAC COUNTY FEDERATED LIBRARY SYSTEM

Director: Eugene G. McLane
Headquarters: Fond du Lac Public Library
32 Sheboygan Street
Fond du Lac, Wisconsin 54935

The Fond du Lac County Federated Library System received provisional certification from the Division for Library Services in 1973 and on January 1, 1974 began operations. This system services 93,022 residents from seven public libraries. Although a single-county system in 1974, the residents of Waupun, which is located in both Fond du Lac and Dodge counties, were also provided with system services. System members include the public libraries in Brandon, Campbellsport, Fond du Lac, North Fond du Lac, Oakfield, Ripon and Waupun. The Fond du Lac Public Library acts as the headquarters library for the system.

Throughout 1974, system staff were actively involved in meeting and planning with neighboring counties to promote system expansion. During 1974, Dodge County completed preparations for joining Fond du Lac to form a two-county system. On January 1, 1975, the Dodge-Fond du Lac system became a reality and was named the Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System. This system serves 159,840 persons and has 15 member libraries.

System Activities and Services–1974

It was the stated purpose of this system to provide, through a library program financed by Fond du Lac County and state fiscal resources, improved library services to all the residents of the system area of a kind, quantity, and quality that had previously not been possible. In addition, legal access to local library services for all the residents of the system area and direct aid to local libraries for improvement of services was to be provided.

In order to promote and encourage local participation and to cover establishment cost, the System Board made direct grant payments to all libraries in the system. Reciprocal borrowing enabled county residents to borrow materials, free of charge, from any library in the system. Walk-in service guarantees every resident free access to all public libraries in the county, and to make use of the services offered by the library.

Upon request, professional system staff members were available to advise librarians and trustees of participating libraries. Assistance was provided on administrative problems, special services, development of policies, technical procedures, and planning and coordinating local library services.

Bookmobile services were provided to those areas without direct access to a library building and for which a need for such services has been recognized. It is also a goal of the system to institute a books-by-mail program to provide service to persons who, for a variety of reasons, do not have access to a public library or to a bookmobile.

A collection of art reproduction, 16mm films, filmstrips, phonograph records, cassette tapes, and other audiovisual materials were available to system libraries from the headquarters library. A rotating book collection of current and popular books, from a central collection at the headquarters, were transported on a regular schedule to member libraries.

Information on how to secure Braille books and related material for the blind and physically handicapped was made available from the headquarters library in Fond du Lac.

Systemwide public relations and publicity services which included news releases, the printing of signs, posters, brochures, etc. were provided by the system to member libraries.

The Fond du Lac County Library System engaged in several planning and developmental projects in 1974. These included:

A. Planning for future local public library use of cable TV.
B. Development of improved communications between participating libraries, including the publication of a monthly newsletter and the establishment of a weekly book van delivery service between libraries.
C. Cooperation with other types of libraries.
D. Cooperative centralized cataloging and processing.
E. Development of an ongoing program of in-service training for library personnel through workshops as planned with the assistance of the advisory committee of librarians. The workshops will be coordinated with ETN library offerings of University Extension.
F. Development of a systemwide library card, which will guarantee free access to library materials and services to all residents of the system area.

The Fond du Lac County Federated Library System, now known as the Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System since it expanded to Dodge County, operates in accordance with goals established in its five-year plan. This plan recognizes that individual libraries in the system area have different needs and priorities. The five-year plan schedule will help these communities meet their special needs and priorities.

LA CROSSE AREA LIBRARY SYSTEM

Director: Gertrude R. Thurow
Headquarters: La Crosse Public Library
800 Main Street
La Crosse, Wisconsin 54601

The formulation of the La Crosse Area Library System was the result of several years of regional cooperation to provide adequate library services to the residents of west central Wisconsin. Begun in November, 1965, as a federally-funded demonstration project designed to meet a growing demand for strengthened services from public libraries, this regional cooperative group succeeded in improving library resources available to library users as well as in implementing programs to provide library services to previously unserved persons. In 1972, the La Crosse Area Library System, made up of the counties of Juneau, La Crosse and Monroe, received provisional certification from the Division for Library Services to begin operations in 1973. Establishment as a state recognized system brought with it the promise of state aid funds to assist in the development of system services and resources. Contractual agreements already existing among member counties, as well as some federal aid, provided additional funds for library system operations. The La Crosse Public Library became the system's headquarters library and on January 1, 1973, system operations began. On January 1, 1974, Trempealeau County became the fourth county member of the system.

System Activities and Services

Members of the La Crosse Area Library System are encouraged to belong to WLA and its related memberships. Library trustees are also encouraged to join the Wisconsin Library Trustees Association. Attendance at special conferences, conventions, and WLA and district meetings are strongly recommended as a means of encouraging service growth of member libraries. System services are the subject of monthly member librarian day long workshops held at the system headquarters library. ETN is now part of the La Crosse Public Library service offerings, so library programs can be received for training and learning. Attendance at A-50 or in Library Science offerings at state schools is encouraged and actively promoted.

The headquarters library serves all member libraries and their patrons (with the union borrower card). Certain intertype library arrangements for loans and on-site study and reference are provided by the system. The system teletype service locates loan items daily, except for weekends, for patrons and member libraries.

Intertype library activities by the system have resulted in organizational meetings and planning sessions, with some interlibrary loan arrangements now in practice. It is expected that 1975 will see considerable impetus to this area of librarianship in the La Crosse Area Library System.

The system assists with National Library Week, Book Week and Summer Library Programs for publicity, promotion and community awareness, utilizing all types of media. Central printing of all member library and bookmobile needs, as well as minor need at the headquarters from the department heads, is done at the La Crosse Public Library using Showcard machine and Gestetner process, with Gestafax. Basic system information news stories are prepared at the headquarters library and released to member librarians so that they can provide information to their local media personnel.

System borrower cards have been in existence three years and entitle holders to borrow any material from any member library, subject to the rules of the loaning library. In addition the card entitles the borrower to all services offered within a system public library.

Although libraries are encouraged to use their own resources as completely as possible, the use of the headquarters collection is available to fill patron needs. Requests are usually forwarded to the system headquarters by telephone. The headquarters acts as the basic referral point for requests and it is there that the decision is made to go on to other sources for the need, either through teletype, telephone, or mail communication. Research, copying, and interlibrary loan services are offered by the system headquarters to member libraries.

The system distributes talking books and recordings, and provides on-site maintenance services of machines. It also provides shut-in service for all homebound and directs such services for member libraries. Books-by-Mail and Films-by-Mail also provide for special service needs. Book collections to homes, institutions and hospitals are provided from the system headquarters. System staff maintain close contact with concerned agencies.

Bookmobiles service three out of the four counties, with Tempealeau County choosing not to contract for this service the first year in the system. The Books-by-Mail program is proving very successful, with the need for this service quite evident from the flow of books between the system and the users.

Book grants to member libraries enrich nonfiction and reference collections for all participants. Book selection aids are available at the headquarters library and book selection aid is available to member librarians. Weeding of member library collections is a necessary assistance in many communities. On-site assistance is given where the need is evident.

Each member library will have its own collection of framed prints for juvenile loan and certain films are in each member library (juvenile only). Paperback and foreign language book exchanges take place between libraries at monthly workshop sessions. Member libraries have bulk collections of cassettes and cassette players. Each member library has its own 16mm sound projector and screen. The headquarters library has a strong 16mm film and filmstrip collection, along with cassettes and recordings, available for use by member libraries.

Member libraries have telephone and telephone credit cards to strengthen system communication. Mail is also a strong communication link.

MANITOWOC COUNTY FEDERATED LIBRARY SYSTEM

Director: Barbara F. Kelly
Headquarters: Manitowoc Public Library
808 Hamilton Street
Manitowoc, Wisconsin 54220

The Manitowoc County Federated Library System serves 83,000 residents of Manitowoc County with walk-in service from the 3 public libraries in the county, Kiel, Two Rivers, and Manitowoc. The Manitowoc Public Library serves as the headquarters library and administers the system by contract with the Manitowoc County Federated Library System Board.

The system began in 1964 as a federally funded demonstration project and received its first county support in 1966. By 1972 county funds had increased 385%, and the system was provisionally certified for state aids in 1974.

System Activities and Services–1974

Because of the pattern of county development, many of the programs funded by state aids are continuations or expansions of previously established county programs, some federally funded. The continuations include: Mailbox Library Service, reference and interloan, county-wide interchange of borrower's cards, summer story wagon, in-service training sessions, and rotating book collections. Since the county membership in the Wisconsin Library Film Circuit was successful, the audio-visual service was expanded by the purchase of a core collection of 16 mm films which is shared by the system libraries on a circuit arrangement.

New programs begun with state aids include: coordination of the Two Rivers circulation with the Manitowoc computerized operation, a Young Adult program headed by a Young Adult Specialist, and a weekly delivery service to system libraries.

Under the guidance of the Young Adult Specialist, intertype library cooperation has received a boost with programing involving teachers, students, and librarians. Books of interest to this age group have been selected and deposited at system libraries and programing know-how on tap for system libraries.

With increasing inflation and uncertain future funding, it will be the aim of the system to continue above services on a maintenance level. However, it is hoped that the System Coordinator added to the staff of the headquarters library in 1975 will be able to continue in order to implement the system activities and promote continued planning with neighboring counties.

The Administrator of the headquarters library is also the Administrator of the system and is responsible for initiating the planning and carrying out of the system plan. Although this dual role presents the difficulty of a much increased work load and an overlapping of activities, the Administrator feels that most of the objectives of the plan for the first year have been met.

The headquarters library also provides all bookkeeping and secretarial work necessary to system development and activities.

Bibliographic services played a minor part in system services in 1974 although there were several accomplishments. The 19 book lists prepared by the Adult Services Department were distributed along with the bi-monthly new books leaflet to county libraries and to Brillion, Chilton, and New Holstein libraries in Calumet County which contract for reference and related services. Also the large-print, the Ruth West Library of Beauty, and the film catalogs were distributed. These publications also go on a regular basis to other types of libraries in Manitowoc County. The Fox Valley Union List of Periodicals, produced by Mead Library, Sheboygan, was distributed to the system and made available by sale to Calumet County libraries. This sharing of headquarters expertise has long been a part of the county library service.

In 1974 the Books by Mail program reached 10,000 rural box holders in Manitowoc County outside the cities of Kiel, Manitowoc, and Two Rivers, and to the homebound and institutionalized either rural or urban. Two catalogs were produced, spring and fall, each listing over 700 titles. From the catalogs 8,666 children's and 34,204 adult books were selected by patrons and mailed by taff. Both catalogs with lending service included were sold to the Division for Library Services for use by Wisconsinites who have no other library service and by 1,600 inmates of state institutions. selected by patrons and mailed by staff. Both catalogs with lending service included were sold to the Division for Library Services for use by Wisconsinites who have no other library service and by 1,600 inmates of state institutions. The fall catalog without service was adapted and sold to Rock and Eau Claire counties.

The Mailbox service is a very popular one, growing from a circulation of 35,542 the first full year to a total circulation of 53,349 in 1974. It is the opinion of the Administrator that this program has reached its potential and hopefully can continue at a maintenance level.

Since the system plan is committed to building audio-visual materials, a 16mm sound film collection for system use has been a main thrust. Sixty titles were acquired in 1974, grouped in mini packets, and placed on deposit in a circuit situation for system libraries to use.

A small collection of about 100 titles of juvenile duplicates from headquarters library, all authors being represented in the Childrens Catalog, was sent on permanent loan to the Kiel Public Library in order to encourage discarding of out-of-date and worn juvenile holdings.

Accompanying the reference and referral work done with system and Calumet county libraries, a rotating book program was developed. Every 6 months one of the area librarians selects a collection of books from headquarters shelves. At this time the packets are exchanged, and the oldest one returned to headquarters. This adds variety to the collections of the smaller libraries and has proved popular.

The framed art reproduction collection at the headquarters library is shared by system libraries with at least 10 pictures on deposit at Two Rivers and Kiel at all times.

On a limited basis the system has provided centralized purchasing with the ordering of cameras, film, and transaction slips for the circulation coordination project. Also the Young Adult program has provided display racks for the paperback collection which is selected and sent on permanent loan to system libraries. Member libraries seem to appreciate having these items made available without the work of ordering directly and the bookkeeping necessary.

It is anticipated that in 1975 AV equipment and materials will be added to the system purchasing program.

From the beginning of the Fox Valley Reference and referral System in 1966, the importance of telephone communication with participating libraries in Manitowoc and Calumet counties was recognized by the provision of telephone credit cards.

When the system plan was written, the librarians wanted a delivery system to compliment the interloan arrangements included in the plan. In September the weekly delivery circuit of system libraries began, and its convenience was quickly recognized. Requests from the Kiel library especially increased.

The headquarters library acts as an ETN center for library related programs. Librarians from Manitowoc and Calumet County libraries attend the series provided by DLS and University Extension. The headquarters staff uses these meetings to relate local materials and services to the program topic. Since the librarians attending the ETN series are mostly from one-person libraries, it is difficult for them to spend an entire day, and the consultation with them takes place before or after the programs.

A special workshop was prepared by the Young Adult Specialist and the Head of Children's Services of headquarters on "Realism in YA and Children's Books." This was given 3 times at the headquarters library in the spring and in October presented at the Kiel High School with Calumet County librarians and public also invited. The program was well received, and it is hoped will be a forerunner of many more workshops repeated in the western end of the county.

During the existence of the system planning committee, a number of meetings were held by the librarians representing public, school, academic, and special libraries.

The YA Specialist has worked with all the school librarians in the county with the "Assignment Alert" project, participated in a career day at Reedsville, and consults regularly with these counterparts.

From the beinning of the Extension Specialist position in 1968, one of the major concerns was inclusion of Kiel and Two Rivers in a public relations program originating from the headquarters library. Because of the close proximity of Two Rivers to Manitowoc, the one area daily newspaper, and the natural proliferation of news generated by a larger library, it has become extremely difficult to offer coordinated news releases. However, whenever feasible as many news releases, book lists, and related materials carry information on all 3 county libraries and the "system" relationship is stressed.

In 1974 one hundred ninety-eight stories were sent to 3 daily newspapers, 5 radio stations, 3 television stations, 4 weeklies, 2 bi-weeklies, 6 newsletters, and 1 monthly.

With Brown County, the Extension Specialist arranged to get the award winning "We'll tell you everything we know" reference service TV spot aired. Also 225 National Library Week promotional records were distributed.

Although in a 1-county system the work of all the professional staff has systemwide impact, the Young Adult Specialist was engaged to fill a specific need to develop a program on a systemwide basis. At headquarters a YA area has been established which includes books, magazines, pamphlets, and school papers. Selected paperbacks are also sent to Kiel and Two Rivers libraries where they are housed in an attractive display rack provided by the system.

The age group to be reached is still in a flux as a reader-use survey conducted at headquarters library indicates the majority using the collection to be of junior high school age. This may cause some readjustment of the book selection policy which has been aimed more at high school age users.

The YA Specialist developed along with the Head of Children's Services a very well received program on realism in Children's and YA books. This workshop was given 3 times in the Manitowoc area and later at Kiel. In addition the specialist presented the public library picture to a statewide group of librarians from Lutheran high schools, urging them to contact their public libraries to supplement school resources which tend to be limited.

The YA Specialist also developed a weekly "Time-Out" film program as a study break, and conducted 3 Young Filmmakers Workshops.

The Head of Children's Services works with area librarians in coordinating summer reading club programs. Whenever regional meetings of interest to childrens services are scheduled, the Head arranges transportation for area librarians.

The Head of Adult Services makes all arrangements for the ETN program series with area librarians.

From the beginning of the Manitowoc County Federated Library System in 1965 all borrower's cards from county libraries have been interchangeable. In addition, existing reciprocal arrangements with the other Fox Valley major libraries open these libraries to walk-in service by Manitowoc County library card holders.

Since 1966 the Manitowoc Public Library has participated in the Fox Valley TWP operation, handling the requests from Kiel and Two Rivers libraries and by contract with Brillion, Chilton, and New Holstein in Calumet County for a current annual payment of $500 each. This has developed into a rather routine procedure through the years, and remains an excellent tie with area libraries. In 1974 the headquarters library handled over 13,149 transactions generated by this activity.

The headquarters library conducts a number of activities to reach those with special needs: Talking Books and demonstration equipment for their use; catalogs of large-print materials available; tours and programs for Head Start, Holiday House (sheltered workshop), Health Care Center, and Riverview School groups; Mailbox Library Service to all county institutions where people are housed, retirement housing, and Meals on Wheels recipients. In addition retirement homes have collections of books on deposit.

Begun in 1968 as a county-wide activity the Summer Story Wagon program reaches rural areas of the county with 15 stops each week for 10 weeks. Stories, puppets, and songs are presented to over 10,000 participants and about the same number of books are circulated annually. Stops include Kiel Public Library, Two Rivers and Manitowoc summer branches, and the migrant workers camp.

MILWAUKEE COUNTY FEDERATED LIBRARY SYSTEM

System Director: I. Nolan Neds, Acting Director
Headquarters: Milwaukee Public Library
814 West Wisconsin Avenue
Milwaukee Wisconsin 53233

The Milwaukee County Federated Library System, offering library services to 986,832 persons, is the most populous of all Wisconsin systems. System members include the public libraries in Brown Deer, Greendale, Shorewood, Wauwatosa, West Allis, Whitefish Bay, and Milwaukee. Milwaukee Public Library acts as the headquarters and resource library. Oak Creek and Hales Corners joined the system as of January 1, 1975.

System Activities and Services–1974

It is assumed that each system created under the 1971 System Law is unique even though all were developed under the guidelines that the language of the law and the administrative rules provide.

The uniqueness of the Milwaukee County Federated Library System was set from the beginning (1972) by the fact that the City of Milwaukee and the County of Milwaukee had for many years a suburban contract under which library service was available to suburban communities in Milwaukee County from Milwaukee Public Library agencies. Consequently the development of the Federated System superimposed and co-mingled Federated system services on and with the ongoing suburban contract services. With the above statement, the following report assumes the readers will understand that the combined activities of both systems are being discussed.

All Board of Trustee minutes of meetings of System members are exchanged between the Headquarters Library and the member libraries. Those matters affecting Federated System activities are discussed at the regular meetings of the Technical Advisory Committee. The agendas for these meetings can and do also frequently include matters that relate to the suburban contract. Since each of the member libraries is autonomous there is no imposition of administrative matters by the Headquarters Library except as set forth under the Suburban Contract or rules of the System as decided by the System Board.

Statistics are gathered and shared systemwide for those subjects where there is a mutual responsibility. The kinds of statistics include circulation, registration, readers' interests, etc. Help is given when requested; autonomy, however, is respected.

In its role as Headquarters Library for the System, the Central Library performs the bibliographic function when requested to do so. The Headquarters Library has assumed the leadership in developing a union shelflist of and for the 7 southeastern counties of Wisconsin. This activity comingles with an ongoing Federated System activity of a System Union Shelflist. Special bibliographies and booklists are published regularly by the Headquarters Library and distributed throughout the system.

The Milwaukee Public Library serves the City of Milwaukee with two bookmobiles, and the County with one (contract service). The Federated System supports service to the older Americans population of the county to include the city with a bookmobile and a van (on order).

The library's outreach activity to the Central City-North and South is accomplished with two book vans.

The Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped is housed in, and administrated by, the Milwaukee Public Library. This library serves the residents of the state of Wisconsin with Talking Books by mail. No other books by mail service is offered by this system.

In its role of Headquarters Library, the central Library performs its reference and research function from a constantly growing collection of reference materials. The county pays the city annually for the use made of this collection by county residents.

The suburban contract provides an option which, if chosen, permanently deposits books in suburban libraries. The contract also provides an option for loaning books to city and county schools on a semester loan basis.

The Headquarters Library selection tools and activities are available to all suburban member library staffs who wish to use them. The Federated System has focused much of the materials budget on developing nonprint materials collections not only in the Headquarters Library, but also in suburban member libraries.

Federated System activity is developing a pool collection of films and cassettes. Projected plans are to add videotapes, filmstrips, and filmstrip projectors to this pool collection. All material and equipment is or will be available to system members.

The Suburban Contract provides for the return and storage of little used books from those libraries which have collections of Milwaukee Public Library books. In addition, through an LSCA grant, the Last Copy Depository project is bringing in last copy items from the seven southeastern counties. These items will be maintained in the Central Library's collection.

The Headquarters Library provides centralized processing for all Milwaukee Public Library agency books. Under the suburban contract, centralized processing is provided for those MPL books going on deposit in suburban libraries. All Federated System materials are processed centrally in the Headquarters Library.

All Federated System libraries are interconnected with a special Centrex telephone network which is reserved for interlibrary communication.

The Federated System supports daily delivery service between the headquarters library and all system member libraries five days a week. Delivery service is extended under the suburban contract to those suburban libraries which are not members of the Federated System.

The Milwaukee Public Library's budget supports Saturday deliveries to all neighborhood libraries in the Milwaukee Public Library System.

Three deposit stations were serviced on a diminishing basis in 1974. This kind of library service is on the phase-out route.

All System members are invited to the Neighborhood Library and Extension Heads' Meetings, Youth Services Meetings, and Library Assistants' Meetings. All special workshops conducted by the Headquarters Library are open to system members.

The Milwaukee Public Library has a contract with the Division for Library Services to augment the ability of the Division's Reference and Loan Library to serve the needs of its statewide clientele. State monies are budgeted for this purpose. The Suburban Contract has always provided interlibrary loan service to suburban participants and continues to do so.

The Headquarters Library provides housing for the Library Council of Metropolitan Milwaukee. This council's function is to develop cooperative arrangements among intertype libraries. Milwaukee Public Library staff members serve on its Board and the libraries cooperate actively with LCOMM's programs.

No joint activities under this heading are carried on for the entire system; however, any information about libraries produced by Milwaukee Public Library's Publications Department tends to benefit libraries in the metropolitan area since information about libraries, when it is of a general nature even though released from the Milwaukee Public Library, tells the library story for all.

The Federated System supports an audiovisual specialist for system use. Professional staff services in other areas of activities are available on a request basis although not budgeted for by the Federated System.

The suburban contract provides for reciprocal borrowing and some communities have provided for it. Federated System activity has stimulated active planning for total reciprocal borrowing arrangements so that a universal library card will be feasible.

Under a Milwaukee County-City arrangement, the city is reimbursed annually by the county for the county residents' use made of the Headquarters Library's reference and research services.

The Milwaukee Public Library administers and houses the Wisconsin Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped under a contract arrangement with the Division for Library Services. The Headquarters Library also houses the Volunteers Services Center which provides services to the visually handicapped of the state. The Milwaukee Public Library, through the city-budgeted Community Librarian activity, extends service to minority groups of the City of Milwaukee. In addition, the Milwaukee Public Library's Over 60 Service provides library services to the city's aging population.

In addition, the Milwaukee County Federated Library System provides funds for distribution of materials and direct cash grants to system member libraries to strengthen member library collections. During 1974 planning continued for installation and implementation of an electronic circulation control system to increase the speed and efficiency of providing services and materials directly to the library users.

NORTHWEST WISCONSIN LIBRARY SYSTEM

Director: William Sloggy
Headquarters: Vaughn Public Library
502 West 2nd Street
Ashland, Wisconsin 54806

The Northwest Wisconsin Library System consists of the counties of Ashland, Bayfield, Burnett, Douglas, Iron, Sawyer, Vilas and Washburn, with Vaughn Public Library (Ashland County) acting as headquarters library for the system. In the first year of operation the Superior Public Library (Douglas County) became the system resource library, under a contract with the system board. This contract enabled the Superior Public Library to hire additional staff, purchase more materials, and give all system residents free walk-in service. Arrangements were developed between the Superior Public Library and the Vaughn Public Library to ensure rapid inter-loan service, coordinated material buying, staff coordination and communication. Funding for system operations was provided by county contractual agreements, federal grants and state aid.

The Northwest Wisconsin Library System service area has a history of regional multi-county cooperation and, therefore, in 1973, many of the services provided were a continuation and expansion of previous services. These services included: bookmobile stops in the communities and neighborhoods of each of the member libraries; bookmobile stops at each of the member libraries for the local librarians to obtain additional books for circulation from their libraries; interlibrary loan and reference and referral services for public libraries as well as residents directly; consultive services to local public libraries as requested; book grants to local public libraries for purchase of additional reference titles; and walk-in service at the Vaughn Public Library.

System Activities and Services–1974

The second year of operation of the Northwest Wisconsin Library System has achieved a number of the objectives outlined in the 1974 plan.

Among these has been the purchase of a van for the purpose of serving Indian Reservations, Jails, Hospitals, Nursing Homes and Retirement Homes. At the present time the van serves forty-eight of these units in the eight county area on a four week rotating basis. This service has been received very favorably by those receiving the service.

With the aid of a federal grant, Mr. Donald Ames, Secretary of the Great Lakes Inter-Tribal Council has been employed to serve as liaison man between the System and the Indian settlements within the System. He has established library outlets on the reservations and is presently establishing a library educational flow of books between the System and various Indian educational programs on the reservations.

Individual library grants and the placing of new reference books was implemented during the year. The libraries of Eagle River, Presque Isle, Hurley, Montreal, Mellen, Washburn, Hayward, Spooner, Shell Lake and Grantsburg received assistance in the reference and children's department.

To enable the libraries of the System to expand their services beyond their book collections, each library received a collection of art prints for circulation to their patrons.

Two workshops have been held by System Headquarters for in-service training of the System librarians. One was on children's literature and one was on free and inexpensive literature available to small public libraries. Two additional workshops are planned for the current year.

The Superior Public Library was established as Audio Visual Resource Center for the System. All 16mm film previously held by the Headquarters Library has been transferred to the Superior Public Library.

During 1975 the System will begin a Books by Mail Service to all rural box holders in the System. This will involve the ultimate service to 22,445 box holders, the publication of a catalog and purchase of paperback books to support the catalog.

In addition, the System will develop a tape cassette service which will foresee the placing of cassettes and players in each system library meeting the standards of the Wisconsin Library System Standards.

The emphasis in 1975 for Children's Services in the Northwest Library System is cooperation. This includes cooperation with the Vaughn Library as the headquarters of the System, cooperation with the satellite libraries, and most important, cooperation within the community.

As headquarters for the System, the staff of the Vaughn Library is ready to provide all possible service to the satellite libraries. In 1975 the coordinator of the Children's Services will personally visit all, or as many as possible, of the satellite libraries. These visits will be used to solve problems, aid in book selection, and in general to help meet the needs of the library's patrons.

ROCK COUNTY LIBRARY SYSTEM

System Coordinator: Janice S. Farley
Headquarters: Rock County Library System
Janesville Public Library
316 South Main Street
Janesville, Wisconsin 53545

The Rock County Library System began operations January 1, 1974. System members include the public libraries in Beloit, Clinton, Edgerton, Evansville, Janesville, Milton Junction, and Orfordville. These libraries bring services to the 137,803 residents of Rock County. The system coordinator and headquarter offices are located in the Janesville Public Library. Both Janesville and Beloit Public Libraries act as resource centers for the system.

System Services and Activities—1974

Because of the delay in finding the desired coordinator and the initial costs in setting up system headquarters, concentrating on the myriad problems of organization, staffing, etc., the Books by Mail program will not officially begin until January, 1975. In the meantime, books, supplies and equipment for handling the requests are currently being purchased. The catalog is being purchased from Manitowoc County Library System, with the cover adapted for Rock County. This will be distributed throughout the county by mail. Hopefully when the rural people are made aware of this service and realize that library materials are as near as their mailbox, with only return postage paid by resident, this will become one of the system's most valued and useful services. Contact with directors of centers for aged will be established to facilitate distribution of catalogs to those persons in centers. Any person physically handicapped, homebound or for another valid reason cannot visit the libraries personally, is eligible for Books-by-Mail service.

System distributes 1/2 of state aid funds to participating libraries for "opening their doors". Many of the libraries use part of this money for collection development.

Many of the member libraries are faced with inadequate book budgets and shelving space. The bulk loan collection enables them to custom tailor their purchases and borrow popular or seldom needed titles from this collection.

Since the system office is not staffed for cataloging and complete processing of materials, books for the bulk loan collection are ordered cataloged. After some difficulty with book jobbers, books are being received on a regular basis. Selection of these titles is based on (1) duplicating popular titles; (2) purchase of low demand/high cost titles to alleviate duplication of expensive titles; (3) supplement collections in popular interest areas; i.e. crafts; (4) emphasize agricultural subjects; (5) recommendations from librarians and public. All selection takes into account reviewing media. There is a monthly listing of new books which is distributed to the libraries. Librarians may either make selections from that list or may personally select in the system office.

System office can call six of the seven libraries on a local exchange. There is a telephone credit card available for the seventh library.

Librarians from all seven libraries meet monthly (except December) for business and in-service training. Workshops for 1974 included: Certification and Salaries; Storytelling; Video tape and its uses for public libraries; and Book repair.

The System registered all libraries for ETN series "Continuing Education for Public Librarians".

Within RCLS there is a mini-network. Evansville, Edgerton, and Milton forward requests to Janesville. Clinton and Orfordville forward requests to Beloit. Requests from Beloit and Janesville are checked daily against each other's collection before sending via TWX to Reference and Loan.

To educate all county residents to the availability and advantages of a county-wide library system, to inform these residents of its existence and to encourage the use of the materials, services and programs, was and will continue to be a primary goal of the RCLS board and the coordinator.

Pursuant to this policy, in July, a brochure describing the system was mailed to all households in Rock County, with the exceptions of the cities of Beloit and Janesville. The Board felt these people were already well informed as to the functions and advantages of a library system.

A display depicting the participating libraries and various materials available to the patrons was developed for the Rock County Fair. It was staffed from 9:00-9:00 daily by librarians from Beloit, Clinton, Evansville and personnel from the Systems office. Bookmarks, bibliographies and film catalogs were distributed. This display continues to be used in stores, shopping center, banks, etc. in local communities.

In August, a half-page ad was purchased in both the Beloit and Janesville weekly shopping news. Inasmuch as both the Janesville Jotter and the Beloit Shopping News have wide county distribution, the Board felt this was an excellent way to reach many households.

In the spring, the Janesville Public Library hosted six 15-minute programs entitled "Discover Your Library" on the local cable TV station. The coordinator participated in one of these with Janesville Public Library staff members, stressing the availability of library materials and services to all county residents.

A "logo" contest was held during the month of May to help bring RCLS to the attention of the county residents. Local publicity of the contest was good which helped to further the awareness of the newly organized county system.

On a continuing basis, the coordinator is speaking to various clubs, committees and groups to keep RCLS in public view and answer any questions regarding programs, services and materials. Where applicable, all news items are released to all seven newspapers.

Coordinator's time is divided between library administration and adult services. Children's librarians from resource libraries are available for consultation for coordinator and/or other libraries.

Cards from any of the seven participating libraries are honored at any library. County cards (issued only to non-city residents) are honored by all seven libraries. There is not a universal county card per se but all cards are honored. All patrons adhere to the rules governing the library from which materials are borrowed.

Reference questions are handled on a walk-in or telephone basis at all participating libraries. Questions not answered at the local library are forwarded to resource libraries. If not answered there, requests are forwarded daily to Reference and Loan via TWX.

SOUTHWEST WISCONSIN LIBRARY SYSTEM

System Director: Serena S. Nelson
Headquarters: Southwest Wisconsin Library System
1085 Lincoln Avenue
Fennimore, Wisconsin 53809

The origin of the Southwest Wisconsin Library System was in a federally-funded demonstration project in 1959 designed to test the feasibility of centralized purchasing and processing for 27 small public libraries in Crawford, Grant, Iowa, Lafayette and Richland counties. The five counties took over support of this Southwest Wisconsin Library Processing Center in January 1962. As other cooperative services were added the name was changed in 1965 to Public Library Service Center of Southwest Wisconsin reflecting added services such as rotating supplementary collections to libraries, reference and referral, reciprocal library privileges throughout the five-county area, a bookmobile, consultant service to libraries and in-service training for librarians. Another name change to the Southwest Wisconsin Library System followed certification as a state recognized system on January 1, 1974.

System Activities and Services–1974

To conform with the state library law and administrative code, the board was reorganized, adopted new by-laws and a personnel policy which included establishing personnel performance review, and negotiated with La Crosse Public Library to serve as the System's back-up resource library for 1974, this being necessary because there is no city of 30,000 or more population within the System area. Work on revision of policies was also begun. Late in the year, the board approved a contract with the Madison Public Library for resources and services starting January 1, 1975 to replace the interim La Crosse contract. An advisory committee including librarians from other types of libraries was established and met.

Many of the system services provided in 1974 were a continuation and expansion of services offered as a service center. The size of rotating bulk supplementary collections was increased and the Large Type Editions collection was strengthened. The volume of interlibrary loan and reference and referrals to the System headquarters was increased through promotion and improved through increased acquisitions and staff and free collect phone service from participating libraries. Consultive services to local libraries were increased due to added staff as well as money budgeted for travel and phone service; each of the 27 local libraries was visited at least once. Centralized purchasing and processing services were reevaluated with a survey and workshop for participating libraries; this resulted in some revisions, a rewriting of procedure manuals and a change from all hand-typed catalog cards to photocopy card production. The headquarters collection was increased for loans to participating libraries and bookmobile service with special attention to filling in weak areas and providing duplicate copies of heavily demanded titles, so that in spite of increased referral demands, the rate of fills by the System was increased. The monthly annotated book selection list and monthly examination display of new books continued to be heavily used by the System area librarians. A new feature was a monthly listing of all new System acquisitions which was distributed to all libraries.

One of the major disappointments of 1974 was delay in delivery of a new, larger second bookmobile due to economic conditions in the automobile industry. Plans had included giving every-other-week service instead of once-a-month service to 40 stops and adding new stops. In anticipation of the new unit a second bookmobile librarian was hired for planning and preparation; this also allowed for neglected bookmobile service promotion and involvement of bookmobile personnel in book selection. Major changes in service patterns have had to be postponed until the second unit goes into operation.

Attention was given to making workshops more relevant; personnel from other concerned agencies were invited to one on library service for the blind and physically handicapped. Attendance and participation in workshops increased; however, efforts to stimulate local community needs surveys and central printing of library publicity materials produced little results during the year.

One of the most well received new programs was the payment of fees and mileage for library personnel to take the UW-Extension ETN Library Science A-50 and Continuing Education for Librarians courses. Six people from participating libraries and a System employee are taking the A-50 course; eight librarians and System personnel are enrolled in continuing education courses.

Late in 1974 a project in school library/public library cooperation was initiated which is expected to start producing results in 1975. This pilot project is being funded under an LSCA grant and being jointly sponsored by the Southwest Wisconsin Library System and CESA 14.

During 1974 the System took steps to solve its long-standing physical facilities problems. Since the System has its own resource collection and staff completely independent of any public library, it had been in rented facilities which expanded to two buildings a block apart in 1973. During 1974, a loan from the Farmers Home Administration was approved and plans for a 10,000 square foot building completed. Bids were received late in December and contracts for construction are expected to be signed early in 1975. Loan repayment will be funded by county appropriations.

WISCONSIN VALLEY LIBRARY SERVICE

System Director: Wayne R. Bassett
Headquarters: Marathon County Public Library
400 First Street
Wausau, Wisconsin 54401

The Wisconsin Valley Library Service began in 1961 as a multi-county cooperative library program to provide reference and interloan service to residents of this central Wisconsin region. On January 1, 1973, this service became one of the first four certified public libraries systems in Wisconsin. Member counties are Clark, Forest, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Oneida, Portage, Taylor and Wood. Largest of the public library systems at 9,908 square miles, this system is headquartered at the Marathon County Public Library. On January 1, 1975, Adams County became a member of this system.

A priority activity in 1973 was assistance to counties and local libraries in establishing organization and procedures for extension of local library services to all residents, for coordinated planning to improve local services, and for intra-county agreements to provide services. During 1973, all residents of the 9-county area achieved legal access to public library service.

System Activities and Services–1974

A major effort of the Wisconsin Valley Library Service was in the area of system advisory and field services, and in-service training. In 1974 system staff was very active in these areas. In addition to the "normal" increases in the regular business of filling requests, staff was involved in advisory services and planning meetings which were held throughout the state. Over 290 meetings were attended by system staff, a substantial increase over the 152 meetings attended in the preceding year.

The Wisconsin Valley Library Service has always actively cared about the continuing education of its member librarians. From 1963 through November of 1974 it has sponsored 86 systemwide workshops. System workshop topics have been developed through the Library Advisory Committee, the system agency for local library input. Since the fall of 1973 workshops have also been conducted on the county level. In 1973 system staff began an in-service training project in Clark County. The purpose was to determine if a more localized kind of contact and instruction should be incorporated into the system's structure. It was a very successful pilot program and in 1974 a total of 16 county level workshops were held in Clark, Taylor and Forest counties.

Both systemwide and county level workshops will be continued and expanded. In 1974, the system also began a series of workshops aimed at the relationship and responsibilities of librarians and library trustees. Evening workshops were held enabling most librarians and trustees to attend. These workshops were presented in Clark, Forest and Taylor counties in 1974 and the system plans to carry this theme to every county in the system.

The total number of individual field visits showed a slight decrease in 1974. This was because the county workshops moved their meetings from one library to another, covering all libraries in Clark, Forest and Taylor counties. Additional individual field visits to these libraries were therefore unnecessary, except in a few instances.

The system encourages all local library staff members to take the ETN continuing education course for librarians by paying all registration fees.

System staff also participated in the planning for a new community library in Pittsville (Wood County) during the last half of 1974. The system staff expects to continue to be involved and offer help in 1975. The system also added a "new" high school library–Owen-Withee High School. The librarian there felt the students could not make enough use of the public library material because of the short hours of that institution. The librarian requested that WVLS serve them directly. After consulting with the Owen Public Library Board of Trustees, the system began direct service to this high school.

In the area of intertype library services, the system goal is to identify, coordinate and extend the resources of all of the participating libraries within and outside of the system area in order to meet citizen needs.

PUBLIC LIBRARY SERVICES
Public Library Systems

The responsibility for intertype library cooperation lies with the Library Advisory Committee, a group composed of librarians from all types of libraries that was founded in 1963. This committee and its appropriate subcommittees advise the Wisconsin Valley Library Service Board of Trustees on program development beneficial to clientele of all types of libraries.

On October 24th, 1974 the Subcommittee on Intertype Library Cooperation met with the State Coordinator of Intertype Library Services and recommended three priority programs. The recommendations were:

1. Development of a directory of all libraries and librarians in the Wisconsin Valley Services area by June, 1975.
2. Publication of a computer based union list of periodicals held by all participating libraries in the WVLS area by April, 1976.
3. Development of a computer based union catalog of audiovisual materials and equipment held by all participating libraries in the WVLS area by May, 1976.

Historically library service programs for the homebound, disadvantaged, blind and physically handicapped in the Wisconsin Valley Library Service area have been developed and implemented on a local or county level. By the end of 1973 Wood, Langlade, Oneida and Marathon Counties had established some type of special outreach or homebound services. Book vans were purchased in three of these counties to facilitate special needs. Oneida and Portage counties also successfully developed books-by-mail programs by the beginning of 1974.

Systemwide service has basically consisted of circulating large print book collections to member libraries, and giving guidance and assistance to local libraries and county library boards in planning and implementing special library services.

During 1974 two questionnaire surveys were distributed to WVLS area libraries, by 1) The State Division for Library Services, and 2) The WVLS Library Advisory Subcommittee on Services to the Homebound, Disadvantaged, Blind and Physically Handicapped, for the purpose of determining to what extent present special programs are being planned, implemented and funded.

The Library Advisory Subcommittee will continue its examination of a long-range plan regarding systemwide special services. During the interim, all current services will be continued and expanded in 1975.

Requests for information, books, and material surpassed 17,000 in 1974, an increase of 17% over 1973. Over one-half of these requests were requests for a specific book. The largest percentage increase was in requests for films. Adult non-students accounted for 73% of the requests received.

Thirty-nine percent of the total requests were referred to Madison or Milwaukee for material not owned at the center library. Three-fourths of these were for specific books. An additional 7% of the total requests received were referred to other sources in the Wisconsin Valley area—public libraries, University of Wisconsin—Stevens Point and others, as well as to appropriate libraries throughout the country.

During October the System Director and Administrative Librarian attended, with personnel from other systems, a three day workshop sponsored by the State Division for Library Services at which the planning and analysis techniques of "Management by Objective" were discussed and demonstrated. Upon the recommendation of the Division for Library Services, these same techniques were applied in the formulation of the 1975 WVLS System Plan and in the System application for federal funds under the Federal Materials Enrichment Grant Program.

In addition to formulating its usual program of system workshops, the Advisory Committee of Librarians began work in three areas of library service that it believed needed greater system evaluation. These areas are 1) Intertype Library Cooperation, 2) Special Services To Meet Special Needs, 3) Reciprocal Borrowing. Work in these areas will continue through 1975.

Other system activities in 1974 included:

a. Nearly 600 large print books circulated in bulk loans to nineteen libraries.
b. System processing of all system Summer Reading Program materials.
c. System payment for ETN registration for continuing education programs for thirteen libraries.
d. System payment for the subscription fee for the "Tips from CLIP" publication for all member public libraries.
e. System publication of Lamplighter, the system newsletter, monthly except for July.
f. System purchasing and circulation of 72 miniature art reproductions.
g. Initial work on an inter-system agreement with the Northwest Wisconsin Library System. The agreement was signed in 1975.

The system also provides grants to member libraries to improve library services and materials at the local level.
